BUSINESS CONDITIONS GOOD

War Causes No Increase in Commercial Disasters.

FAILURES LESS THAN FOR MANY YEARS

War Taxes Begin to Increase the Revenue and No One Apprehends the Receipts Will Fall Below Predictions.

NEW YORK, July 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade will say tomorrow: The usual half yearly statement of failures in all branches of business is peculiarly interesting because it shows that war and fears of war have not caused an increase in commercial disasters. The surprisingly large and general decrease in trading defaults would without doubt be accompanied by corresponding returns as to the [illegible] in some lines and the helpless condition [illegible] by a few large firms. Failures during the second quarter have been smaller than in the same quarter of the last four years, in trading and in manufacturing smaller than in the same quarter of any year excepting 1894.

The fiscal year has ended with financial results a shade beyond general expectations and the new war tax begins to increase the revenue, but not seriously disturbing business in any line. No one appears to apprehend that the war revenue will fall below predictions.

Criticism of crop estimates is the less needed because the best authorities agree that all supplies for the coming year promise to greatly exceed home requirements and a full export demand, though for a month or two yet Europe may require much more than usual. This will help to sustain the market while the earlier crops are coming forward and prices will then be determined largely by the outlook for crops abroad, which is not as yet entirely encouraging.

Wheat has reflected but little the improved prospect, advancing from 85 to 90 cents for spot regardless of the usual stories of injury, the current movement and the department reports being apparently distributed by the trade.

The cotton crop looks better and the prospect is reflected in a decline of a sixteenth in the spot price. The manufacturing works at the north are quite well employed, much better than usual during the season, and the demand is somewhat improved. Abroad the state of manufactures does not encourage hopes of an extraordinary demand for the raw material, while the stocks held by millers are known to be unusually large. There is no disheartenment in other textile manufactures and business is good and growing in silks, bagging, hemp products and linen.

The manufacture of wool hesitates, although a distinctly better demand has appeared during the last ten days, because of the extent to which western wools are held too high for eastern markets. Sales for the week for the three chief markets have been only 3,200,000 bales, of which 2,290,500 were domestic, against 14,020,500 last year, of which 6,989,500 were domestic, and 6,119,350 in the same week of 1892, of which 650,000 were domestic. Manufacturers are reserved, although there is evidence of a great consuming demand for goods, which manufacturers, with reasonably cheap material, can supply. It is now an open question whether they can meet it if they have to pay such prices as asked by western holders.

It is not enough to dismiss the iron industry with the cold statement that we are using more iron at the slowest point of the year than ever before. There are bigger domestic orders for agricultural implements, for car materials and structural work than in any previous year, but especially for plates, the demand for which quite overruns the capacity of the works, and not mainly on government account. Nevertheless the demand has not pushed prices of material upward, for this is the waiting and fighting period, and the purchasers of pig and billets have yet some problems to settle between themselves. Meanwhile no fall in prices appears, but there is a better demand for products, with every expectation that within two weeks the producing capacity of the works will be fuller employed than for six months.

Failures for the week have been 229 in the United States, against 266 last year, and seventeen in Canada, against thirty last year.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE.

Tone of Business Partakes of Midsummer Quietness.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

While the tone of general business partakes of the usual midsummer stock-taking quietness, the number of favorable features coming to hand has not materially lessened and confidence in a good fall business is still widespread. Business in speculative circles is restricted and the new war taxes have been found to bear heavily on the volume of speculative sales by so-called scalpers in grain and other products. The trend of prices, particularly for cereals, has been a slight improvement for the week and detailed comparisons with recently preceding weeks are still quite favorable.

Developments in the iron trade are still towards activity and among the favorable features might be instanced an improvement in the demand for pig iron and increased inquiry at higher prices for steel plates at some eastern points, while the western accounts continue favorable.

Rather more is doing on export account in this line of business, and the demand for our cereals abroad is quite spry. The crop condition is in the main favorable, although the tendency now is to discard extreme estimates of yields of wheat and 675,700,000 to 700,000,000 bushels estimates are [illegible].

Business failures for the week number 241, as against 173 last week, 231 in this week a year ago, 219 two years ago, 266 in 1895, and 229 in 1894.

As for some time past the west and northwest have been the best reports.

A rather more cheerful tone is noticeable at the southern and eastern and middle states. The tone of trade is quiet, but activity in iron has been a feature at Philadelphia, where, however, the textile manufacturers are not busy. Pittsburg reports trade seasonably dull and Boston gives it as quiet. The supply of raw wool adaptable to government orders has been considerably reduced at that market, while prices of this staple are strong. Dry goods are slow, but with the exception of cottons, particularly bleached goods, which are firm, and in the recent price reductions. The feeling in the woolen goods trade is hopeful, while new business are narrow.

Our cereal exports continue in excess of preceding weeks of previous years, wheat shipments for the week aggregating 2,728,642, as against 4,715,401 last week, and comparing with 2,052,666 this week a year ago, 2,167,076 in 1896, 2,317,237 in 1895, and 2,377,350 in 1894.

Corn exports show a decrease from last week aggregating 2,611,272 bushels, against 2,601,560 bushels last week, 2,752,717 in the corresponding week of 1897, 848,888 in 1896, 1,055,476 in 1895, and 449,600 in 1894.

REVIEW OF THE STOCK MARKET.

Stamp Tax on Sales Checks the Activity of Speculators.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Bradstreet's Financial Review tomorrow will say:

Narrow transactions and irregularity have distinguished the week's speculation. The market opened last Tuesday after the holiday buoyant on the news of the destruction of the Spanish fleet. London saw higher prices and for a time the traders here found that the outside public was still indifferent, and realizing brought prices down for the first ten minutes.

Trading was heavy and dragging and on Thursday there was a revival of strength due to rumors that the trunk lines developing strength in the early transactions on peace rumors, followed, however, by dullness and a decline in the coal stocks.

Dealings in the stock list have been restricted in an unusual extent by what seasonable midsummer dullness would produce. The stamp tax on sales, while it is impossible to say how far it checked public trading, has certainly checked the activity of many speculators and board room traders, who have been accustomed to make a great many contracts in order to obtain a minimum of profits, and, with the war tax of $2 on each 100 shares would seriously reduce it.

There is a somewhat more settled feeling about the crops, but on the other hand rate cutting is admitted to be prevalent and the Chicago situation and the fact that the heavy movement of grain to market is yet to come. Consequently some prominent roads, notably the St. Paul, show some small decreases in gross revenue for the last two weeks.

London bought stocks at the opening of the week and then showed marked indifference until Friday, when peace rumors again brought it in as a buyer.

BURGLARS MAKE A SMALL RAID

Farnam Street Stores Visited by the Thieves and Successfully Looted.

Thieves pried the iron bars off a rear window of Nels Johnson's store at 1090 Farnam street Thursday night, raised a window and gained access to the building.

Several suits of clothing and Johnson's watch and chain were stolen. Two men, presumably the men who robbed Johnson, forced an entrance to the fruit store of Tony Powers at 312 North Sixteenth street and helped themselves to all of its stock of fruit and cigars.

Mortality Statistics.

The following births and deaths were reported to the health commissioner during the twenty-four hours ending at noon yesterday:

Births—George E. Turkington, 1208 North Twenty-sixth street, boy; John Kohler, 4504 Eleventh street, boy; Martin Schmidt, Forty-[illegible] street, girl; [illegible], girl; Willie Railey, 1420 Walnut street, girl; Frank Jackson, 3866 Dodge street, girl.

MAHER DEFEATS GODDARD

Peter Gets Heavy Punishment, but is Too Much for Old Joe.

CONTEST IS ONE OF HARD FIGHTING

Goddard Goes to the Floor Repeatedly and is Ruled Out of the Game Through Sheer Exhaustion.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Peter Maher defeated Joe Goddard in ten rounds at the Lenox Athletic club tonight. They had been scheduled to fight five rounds with five-ounce gloves. Goddard has defeated Maher on two previous occasions, and Maher was the favorite among the sporting element present. A large attendance of prominent sporting men were in attendance, and the usual preliminary talks of proposed fights were indulged in, but no matches were made.

Goddard administered a lot of hard punishment to his adversary, but received a terrific pounding while he was doing so. Goddard was on it a couple of times, but the bell saved him, and when he quit toward the end of the tenth round he was scarcely able to stand on his feet. At the same time the fast work which both had gone through from the beginning had told on Maher, and he was unable to land a blow heavy enough to finish the Australian.

In the first round, after a lively exchange, Maher hooked his right to the head and put Joe to the floor. Goddard's nose was bleeding when the gong was sounded.

In the second no material damage was done.

After some rough fighting in the third Goddard went down again from a left swing on the face. When he got up Maher sent him down again.

At the close of the fourth Goddard got in some hard blows on Maher which staggered Maher.

Round five saw Goddard again on the floor, and he stayed down nine seconds. Maher repeated the performance when Joe got on his feet and the latter took a nine seconds' rest before rising.

The next two rounds were full of hard hitting on both sides, but in the ninth Maher increased his lead.

The final round started lively, Goddard just before reaching Maher effectively, but Peter landed repeatedly on the head. Goddard was wobbly when he went into the arms crossed in front of his face. Maher went at him again and Joe went down. Goddard, who had been a knockout, backed away and stretched out his hand, saying as he did so, "This is more than nature can stand," and he shook Maher's hand.

The referee then awarded the bout to Maher.

NEW YORK'S STATE HEADQUARTERS

Major Wheeler is Keeping Open House in a Comfortable Location.

The pretty building on the Bluff tract erected by the New York Exposition commission as an earnest of the friendly feeling of the people of the Empire state for the great and growing transmississippi region has been thrown open to the public and Major A. M. Wheeler, secretary of the commission, is keeping open house for all comers.

The central portion of the New York building is two stories in height on the outside, but this height inside gives a light and airy effect to the main room which is very pleasing. The wings are each one story in height and the entire building is surrounded by a broad portico, which is provided with numerous comfortable easy chairs, which afford a delightful place for rest in the cooling breezes which are continually wafted over the edge of the bluff immediately in the rear of the building.

The interior of the building is treated on the summer resort order, everything being designed for coolness and comfort. The floors are all oiled and soft rugs abound, wicker chairs of the latest pattern and of the most approved style for comfort and luxurious ease are on every side; wicker couches of various styles are in each room and wide divans covered with soft cushions extend around the main room in the most inviting fashion. The main room occupies the center of the building and the office of the secretary opens from this room at the back. The room to the right is devoted to the use of the women and this is provided with all the things that are necessary to the complete comfort of the gentler sex. The chairs in this room are greatly admired by the women and they are indeed models of beauty and comfort. A fine piano of standard make is provided for the use of visitors and to furnish music for the little parties which will take place in this delightful building in the near future.

The room to the left of the main room is set aside for the use of the men. This is liberally supplied with easy wicker chairs and couches and the leading New York dailies and pictorial weeklies are kept on file. A conspicuous feature of the decoration of this room is a large silk banner belonging to Former Governor Morton of New York. This is about 8x10 feet in size and is made of very heavy gros grain watered silk. The silk is cream-colored and in the center of each side is embroidered the coat-of-arms of the state of New York. The banner is a very handsome affair and was exhibited in the New York building at the World's fair.

KIMBALL DECLINES TO RESIGN.

Musical Director of the Exposition Refuses to Step Out.

Trouble is brewing in connection with the musical department of the exposition and some disagreeable complications promise to result before the matter is finally adjusted. As was announced in The Bee two weeks ago the executive committee concluded to dispense with the services of Musical Director Kimball, the office of musical director being abolished and the management of the musical bureau placed under the direction of Mr. T. J. Kelly, the present choral conductor, with the title of superintendent. When this information was conveyed to Mr. Kimball, however, he declined to acquiesce and protested against being thus summarily removed, claiming that he had been engaged for the term of the exposition. He was then given until July 10 to present his resignation, but instead of presenting it he demanded the charges which were made against him. In reply to this he was told that no charges had been made against him except one of general incompetency. To this Mr. Kimball made no reply, but he gives it out that he will not resign and that if charges are made they will have to be substantiated. According to statements of certain exposition officials he is likely to have his curiosity in this direction gratified.

It has been the settled policy of the exposition management to make no contracts with employes or appointees, every employe being subject to discharge at any time at the pleasure of the executive committee. The officials say no exception was made in the case of Mr. Kimball and that he has no ground for his claim that he was engaged to manage the musical department during the entire term of the exposition.

There has been a growing dissatisfaction among the officials of the exposition with the manner in which the affairs of the musical department were being conducted and this bureau has formed the subject of very extended discussions on the part of the executive committee. A change was decided upon several weeks ago and when the general policy of reduction in all departments was inaugurated the first of the current month the manner of conducting the musical department was changed as a part of this policy. Nothing was given out that reflected in any manner on Mr. Kimball or his management of the affairs of the department and it was expected that he would retire gracefully as a part of the general plan of retrenchment.

Directors Discuss Pass Question.

The board of directors of the exposition held a short adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon to receive the report of the executive committee on the resolution referred to that committee at the last meeting of the board, directing that season passes be issued to the editors and their wives of every paper in Nebraska and contiguous states.

The executive committee reported that it had not agreed upon a report on the resolution and therefore reported the resolution back to the board without recommendation. The matter was discussed at length and a number of amendments were offered, but no final action was taken and the matter was finally laid over until 3 o'clock today, when the subject matter will be still further discussed.

About thirty members of the Omaha High School cadets turned up last evening for drill and went through their military tactics on the High school grounds. Ordinarily the company drills on Monday of each week, but this extra practice was desired because of the exhibition drill which Captain Clarke and his cadets will give this evening on the Grand Plaza at the exposition. Forty High school boys now constitute the full number of the company. These are said to be unusually well drilled. At half past 8 this evening the boys will be in their full dress uniforms and try to outdo themselves before the exposition visitors.

Manager Lindsey of the Department of Ways and Means has been arranged for the [illegible] two balloon ascensions on the exposition grounds. It is proposed to have the feature as Saturday and [illegible] this week and the balloon will go up Monday and Tuesday.

The [illegible] club is developing into a lively organization. It has been decided to begin fitting up its quarters in the gallery of the Machinery building at once, while the executive committee continues its task of tabbing funds. Enough support has been secured to put the enterprise on a solid basis and it is now a matter of the possession of the [illegible] of the grounds.

After considerable discussion Saturday, October 1, has been designated as Chicago day and on that occasion the people of the Windy City are expected to come to the exposition in force. The Chicago people are enthusiastic in their admiration of the enterprise and they have assured the management that they will come to the exposition as fast as the people the railroads can haul.

A telegram received by Assistant Superintendent Morrey of the Government building from Mr. F. E. Kemper of the supervising architect's office at Washington announced that the life saving crew which has been detailed for duty at the exposition will arrive in Omaha next Monday. When the crew arrives two exhibitions will be given each day of the practical operations of the life saving service of the government along the great lakes and the seacoast.

Charges Her Employer with Assault.

If the story of Elise Glolzberg of 81 North Twenty-fourth street be true Charles Westerheide, proprietor of the Tivoli Variety theater at 808 North Sixteenth street, is guilty of a criminal assault which he committed by the aid of drugged wine. Warrants have been sworn out by Miss Glolzberg for Westerheide's arrest.

Miss Glolzberg acted as cashier for Westerheide up to the time the crime was committed. She came here from New York recently at the solicitation of Westerheide and says he asked her to marry him the day after she arrived. She refused, but Westerheide persisted in his attentions and finally by drugged wine got her into his power.

Enjoins a Justice of the Peace.

As justice of the peace Bloody Clark has been enjoined from prosecuting a judgment rendered against F. H. Roettger, a smelter employe. In his petition the plaintiff, Roettger, alleges that there was a suit before Clark and that it was dismissed. Since that time the plaintiff avers that Clark has entered judgment and is about to garnishee his wages.
