

IT ISN'T CHARITY.

It's the "Live" and "Let Live" Principle of Dr. Shepard Applied to the Practice of Medicine. The Help Offered is Not a Charity Any More Than Cheap Gas Light is a Charity. All Patients Pay a Small Fee—Examinations and Consultations are Made Without Any Charge Whatever.

The diseases accepted for treatment at the Shepard Institute, and the remarkably prompt and thorough manner in which has made the reputation of the Shepard medical system, are—

- Nasal Catarrh; Catarrh in any Chronic form; Asthma; Bronchitis; Chronic Stomach Troubles; Chronic Kidney Disease; Chronic Rheumatism; Affections of the skin; Diseases of Blood; Diseases of Nervous System—

In short, all ailments and infirmities of a seated and serious nature, requiring time and treatment—requiring a certain definite period of close personal attention for their radical and lasting cure.

No excellent thing does any degree of its excellence by becoming insipid. The electric current, once a costly rarity, the ornament and wonder of a few palaces—has now become a necessity of every household.

The skill that cures a deaf blindness or an invalid, is the skill that cures the chronic and the fact that fully restores the patients of the Shepard Institute are people of means who, after a short course of treatment, are restored to a normal and healthy condition.

Nearly everything else in modern human life has undergone economic revolutions. Doctor Shepard simply insists, in the face of our economic revolution, that the requirements of medical science be also recognized.

with, often, vomiting and heartburn. I had constantly bad taste in the mouth, foul breath and coated tongue. Fatigue after the least exertion, nervous vitality, were also marked features.

My condition had seemed like this for two years. It seemed incurable, but the promptness with which it yielded to the course of medication prescribed by Dr. Shepard only demonstrated the superior efficacy of the Shepard System.

PROMISES NEVER MADE GOOD. Story of Spain's Duplicity in Dealing with Philippine Islanders.

DENY THAT AGREEMENT WAS EVER MADE. Substance of the "Pact" Entered Into When the Former Rebellion in the Islands Was Brought to an End.

(Copyright, 1918, by Associated Press.) LONDON, July 9.—One of Aguinaldo's leaders in the Philippine revolt is living incognito in London and practically acting as Aguinaldo's agent, but is receiving constant telegrams and letters from him.

Questioned as to the situation by a representative of the Associated Press, he said: "The Philippine republic was proclaimed in October, 1916, and its first president was Andres Bonifacio. When he died, over a year ago, Aguinaldo was elected president.

On the arrival of Captain General Primo de Rivera, that officer adopted a policy of bringing the rebellion to an end by means of concessions, force having failed. Our leaders were approached and the result was the pact of Bionnato, so-called, from the village where it was signed on December 14, 1917.

"Senior Sagasta the other day denied that in that 'pact' General Rivera promised any reforms. Here is an official copy of that 'pact,' wherein is promised the banishment or at least the disbanding of the religious orders of the Philippines, the abolition of the Cortes; the same administration of justice for the natives as for the Spaniards; unity of laws between the Philippines and Spain; the natives to share the chief offices of the Philippine civil administration; re-arrangement of the property of the friars and of the taxes in favor of the natives; recognition in the individual rights of the natives, with liberty of public meeting, and redress of native grievances, and these are what we shall expect the Americans will institute.

"For those reforms Aguinaldo and the other leaders promised that if Rivera carried out the 'pact' they would expatriate themselves for three years and foment no movement against Spanish authority during that time. Upon the rebels surrendering their arms, ammunition, forts, etc., Aguinaldo would receive 400,000 pesetas. This money Aguinaldo deposited in the Hong Kong and Shanghai bank at Hong Kong, not for his personal use, but as a fund, the interest of which—in case the Spaniards general carried out his part of the 'pact'—was to be devoted to the education of natives in the island. In case the 'pact' was not fulfilled by the Spaniards, the money was to be used for arms and ammunition for the rebellion. The Spaniards never carried out a general amnesty, denied the existence of a 'pact' and that several rebel leaders who returned to Manila on the strength of it.

"Since the renewal of the rebellion under the inspiration of Admiral Dewey's victory the present captain general has approached Aguinaldo and his leaders and promised if they would make common cause with the Americans he would carry out the plans stated in the 'pact.' As a mark of bona fide he created a legislative council, to which he nominated twenty leading ministers of the Philippine Islands. All overtures were emphatically rejected.

"The German pretensions are simply preposterous. They are practically little more than peddlers. All the large mercantile houses are English, which have in their hands quite three-fourth, in bulk and value, of the commerce. The banks, railways, telegraphs, cable and local steamship lines are English; the only cotton mills belong to the English, and the English control the sugar and hemp trade. The Germans are trying for some of the heavier trade, but have not capital or credit. There is only one Ameri-

Popocrats See the Doom that Impends Against Next Fall's Election.

WAIL FROM THE OFFICIAL ORGAN

Lincoln Evening Post Points Out the Stormy Way Along Which the Boston Ticket Must Travel This Year.

LINCOLN, July 9.—(Special.)—The popocrats are very blue over the outlook for the coming campaign and practically concede that the state will go republican. The Lincoln Evening Post, which has been open to the personal organ of Mr. Bryan since its inception, has a pessimistic outlook for the coming year. The editorial headed "A Dark Outlook:"

"Close our eyes to it as we may, the outlook for the fusion forces in the coming campaign is not brilliant. The only hope for complete success lies in the complete fusion of all the reform forces of the state and a ticket composed entirely of men whose integrity is beyond question. It is needless to deny that the republican party has made and is making rapid strides in the changing of events for republican success in the state this fall. While the reform forces have been taking just pride in the extraordinary record for economy achieved by the fusionists and the conservative administration of state affairs, the republican have not been asleep. The extraordinary vitality, the brilliant leadership of the party whose record is a deed has been shameful beyond description, is beginning again to manifest itself. The republican party has for the most part gotten rid of the barbed wire of the past and is now in a position to re-assert itself in the state. It is generally conceded that he is not now an active candidate for politician who has brought the state into universal discredit, and the best merit of established honesty in the party, are being pushed forward with vigor for the office of governor. The fusion forces are being pushed forward with vigor for the office of governor. The fusion forces are being pushed forward with vigor for the office of governor.

As if anything further were needed to increase the gloom of the state house party, the same issue of the official popocratic organ contained a strong editorial denouncing public officials who ride on passes. It is conceded that during the last six months the present state officials and clerks in the state employ have rode so much on passes that the combined mileage would reach 100,000 miles. The two editorials referred to indicate that the Post will ask for a new set of officials, and the people at the capitol building held several hurried meetings today to see if something could be done to get the popocratic daily back into line. It is understood that a deal is on foot to change the management of the paper and run it as a campaign paper until November.

About Free Transmississippi. The anti-pass editorial which has caused so much consternation is as follows: "The question raised when public officials accept free transportation is apt to assume some additional importance in the future. The facts are that the state has a large number of men who stand in highest capacities, whether those capacities be judicial or ministerial, and who are in receipt of a salary. It is not the duty of public officials in accepting free transportation from the state to receive a salary. It is not the duty of public officials in accepting free transportation from the state to receive a salary. STARBUCK WILL BE RENOMINATED. Present Congressman from the Fourth Will Run Again.

CRETE, Neb., June 9.—(Special.)—The political situation in this county and in the Fourth congressional district is not clear enough yet to state positively who will be a candidate. There is no doubt that Hon. W. L. Starbuck will get the unanimous endorsement of the three-ring show, commonly known as the demo-pop crowd. There is nobody in the district who would undertake to take away the nomination from the doubly colored. The nomination was himself solid with many of the old veterans by actively working the "pension racket" and now posing as second to the general in chief of all the armies and navies of the state of Nebraska.

Little Interest in Congressional Campaign is Yet Awakened. FREMONT, Neb., July 9.—(Special.)—Although only a few weeks will elapse before the congressional elections will be held, political excitement has aroused little interest in this vicinity. Judging from reports from other points throughout the Third district the same conditions prevail. Ross Hammond of this city is content with the postoffice and not a candidate for the nomination. The only avowed candidate for the office of congressman in this part of the district is Judge Norris of Ponca. The judge has an extended acquaintance throughout the district and though he has been unsuccessful at other conventions it looks as though his services to the party and the district would be rewarded this time. His strength lies largely with those who are not machine politicians.

With the opposition a decidedly different condition exists. Since the meeting of the different committees at Norfolk which decided upon a joint convention, to be composed of 115 delegates, ninety-two democrats and eighteen so-called free silver republicans, there are quite a few wires being industriously worked. The populist wing of the party will have the practical control of the convention and will be able to dictate the platform. When Judge Norris was nominated two years ago there was a sort of a feeling, perhaps amounting to an understanding, that he was to have but one term, and it is generally conceded that he is not now an active candidate for politician who has brought the state into universal discredit, and the best merit of established honesty in the party, are being pushed forward with vigor for the office of governor.

As if anything further were needed to increase the gloom of the state house party, the same issue of the official popocratic organ contained a strong editorial denouncing public officials who ride on passes. Holt County Populist Convention. O'NEILL, Neb., July 9.—(Special Telegram.)—The populists of Holt county held a convention in this city this afternoon to select delegates to the congressional and state conventions. Only about thirty delegates were present out of a possible 106. Eleven precincts were not represented. The convention had quite a time over their choice for congressman and a resolution was introduced stating that the renomination of Congressman W. L. Greens would be acceptable to the populist party of this county, and it was laid upon the table by a vote of 42 to 23. A majority of the delegation favored Judge Westover for congressman and resolutions were adopted denouncing third terms. The following delegates were elected to the congressional convention: D. C. Blomdell, Hugh O'Neil, John Hopkin, Dan C. Cronin, T. V. Golden, S. B. Howard, R. R. Ritts, Charles Eves and C. W. Hamilton. M. F. Harrington was elected chairman of the state delegation and the delegates were instructed by W. R. Jackson for renomination as state superintendent.

Nearly everybody has been agreeably surprised at the readiness with which our soldiers have adjusted themselves to a tropical climate. The heat of our most southern camps seems neither to destroy the vigor nor dampen the enthusiasm of our soldier boys. Even the terrific heat of Cuba during the worst of the hot season has been bravely borne by our troops, and when in contrast from heat have been reported, the amount of sickness has been astonishingly small, compared with what was generally expected. Of course, the boys have taken care of themselves. Everything that sanitary precaution could suggest has been observed. The food supply has been good and abundant. Surgical and medical provisions of our army cannot be excelled anywhere. Some of the boys have even gone so far as to provide themselves with old and tried remedies against heat, fatigue and exposure. Among these remedies Peruna has been the favorite with the most of the boys. Two letters recently received by Dr. Hartman from a soldier in the Fourth regiment, Infantry, O. V., are of interest to all who are concerned with the welfare of our soldiers. Headquarters Seventh Regiment, O. V. I., Camp Russell A. Alger, Va., June 28, 1898.

Dear Sir—Colonel A. B. Coit, commanding Fourth regiment, Infantry, O. V., begs to convey to you his thanks for your consideration in furnishing the staff of his command with a case of your most excellent Peruna. It has been found invaluable as a tonic in this climate and the various sicknesses attending a radical change in drinking water. Sincerely,

Per J. C. Schindel, Chaplain Regt.
Peruna is a specific for climatic diseases. Climatic affections find their way into the system through the mucous membranes. A healthy mucous membrane protects the system from climatic diseases. No disease germ or bacteria can enter the system through a healthy mucous membrane. Peruna considers the feasibility of a number of my men, have given Peruna a thorough trial and have found it to be most
