Expressions of Opinion from Western Populists Not Encouraging to the Manipulators of the State House Nominating Apparatuse

LINCOLN, July 17 .- (Special.) - The populists who drift into the state house from coming conventions. around about the state are exhibiting considerable anxiety as to the procedure of the coming state convention, and the state house machine is exerting itself to prepare the way for another three-ringed performance similar to that of last year. Ear marks printed in the last issue of its recognized official organ, the Independent, purporting to represent the sentiment of the party in publican conventions, called to meet at the same time and in the same place.

is all the same outfit nominated by the democratic club in Omaha. They will no more abundon it than will rats abandon fresh cheese."

Another significant answer is that of Representative Snyder of the Fifty-seventh district, who is said to be a preacher, but who ends his communication as follows: "No more such damn fooling as we had a year ago."

West Wants Recognition.

Another significant movement comes in from the western part of the state, whose delegates to the populist convention will doubtless demand recognition on the ticket. For example, Lester O. Clough, chairman of the Cheyenne county committee, announces through the same source that the western part of the state will certainly combine to demand its rights in all parts of the state government. He continues:

We get practically no share in the patsession and we whoop her up for the state officers in each campaign, and after they are elected they select all their appointees from their own county, or nearly so. Most of them are not even satisfied with that, but go into the next state convention and trade the power which we have given them for influence to help re-elect themselves. Men that are in office now have no greater rights than those who put them there and the last state convention definitely settled the question that the populists do not consider a re-nomination a matter of courtesy, and they do not take kindly to efforts out of the usual line by officers to hold them

We are going to ask at the next stat convention a proper distribution demanded by fairness, and we believe it much greater more worthy of consideration than mere courtesy, and the west end of nt unfair conditions.

The same sentiment is expressed in the resolutions recently adopted by the Lincoln requests the nomination for governor to be given to the western end of the state. and denounces as impelitic and unjust the continued refusal of the eastern and central its constitutional rights by just reapportionment of the state into senatorial and representative districts.

Still another evidence of the revolt is that which takes the form of a protest against the exclusive nomination of lawyers for the highest places of honor and trust by a party which has its strength with the farmers and pretends to represent the producing classes.

Objects to Lawyers.

An interesting example of the outeropping of this sentiment is found in the following letter, endorsing the candidacy of D. Clem Deaver, which seems to have escaped, by accident, the consorship of the machine gang that is supposed to control the populist organ:

GILEAD, Neb., July 6,-To the Editor of the Independent: As the time for holding the state convention and the people will soon be called upon to select their standard bearer. I wish, through the columns of your excellent paper, to express my preference as to whom he shall be, as a good many others have done. For governor of young and growing state, with her varied resources like Nebraska, we need a man now people earn their living and how they make their money; a man that is abreast of the times and is keeping there. I be-lieve, Mr. Editor, we have such a man in the person of the Hon. D. Clem Deaver of He has been one of the early pioneers of Jefferson and Thayer counties and was among the most successful of our early farmers. I knew him then, I knew him when he was chairman of the people's party state central committee and also in his present situation, and he has always been the same D. Clem Deaver, with a heart true and generous and a hand ever ready to as-sist the needy. In view of these facts and knowing his experience in almost all the walks of life. I believe, Mr. Editor, he would make us a most exemplary governor. I notice some time ago some of the friends wanted a farmer for governor. Now, let us nominate and elect D. Clem Deaver for governor and in him we will have a combina-tion that I believe will suit us all; and then again if any of us old fellows should hapon to be in Lincoln and wanted to call in the governor we could do so with an assurance that we would be treated to as good a chair as there was in the governor's of-fice regardless of a little hayaced in our hair or coal dust in our whiskers.

Ask for Restraining Order. COLUMBUS, Neb., July 17 .- (Special.)-

Late last night a petition was filed in the district court here by County Attorney O'Brien asking for a restraining order enjoining the Great Eastern Canal company the state will not long submit to the pass- from running the Columbus lateral along and parallel with the meridian line (so called because it is the sixth principal meridian of the United States). This action wa county populist convention, which formally taken as the result of two unsuccessful attempts spent in trying to adjust matters in an amicable manner. The necessary bond filed with the petition was signed by Supervisor Bender, chairman of the board counties of the state to give the west end. The lateral strikes the line about two miles north of the city and runs parallel with it for a distance of about two miles. This is perhaps one of the worst bones of contention that the irrigation company has struck, although their path has not been a bed of roses in Platte county. The members of the board are all advocates of irri gation and do not wish to be understood as trying to throw water upon the enterprise. A large number of farmers who are located along the line of the lateral were present at the meeting of the board and the rrigation officers. Many of them are complaining of the proposed route. Mrs. ELIZABETH WHEELOCK, Magnolia, Iowa, in the following letter describes her recovery from a very critical condition:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:-I have been taking your Vegetable Compound, and am now ready to sound its praises. It has done wonders for me in relieving me of a tumor. " My health has been poor for three years. Change of life was working upon me. I was very much bloated and was a burden to myself. Was troubled with smothering spells, also palpitation of the heart and that bearing down feeling, and could not be on my feet much. "I was growing worse all the time, until I took your medicine. "After taking three boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Lozenges, the tumor passed from me. "My health has been better ever since, can now walk quite a distance and am troubled no more with palpitation of the heart or bloating. I recommend your medicine to all sufferers from female troubles."

It is hardly reasonable to suppose that any one can doubt the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's methods and medicine in the face of the tremendous volume of testimony.
