A Bit of Prophecy. From the day on which the first through train is hauled over the new railroad, I expect to see the result I predict manifest itself both in your Pacific coast cities and pland at your manufacturing centers. Much of the material for the construction and operation of the completed sections of the road has come from the United States.

Already, then, you have had great benefits from the enterprise. But what you have had is merely a drop in the bucket. The real benefit will come when the road is regularly opened for business, when communities are building up along its line, when areas now uninhabited and undeveloped shall spring into life under the magic touch of immigration. American capital and American enterprise will be tremendous factors in Siberia then and there will be no section of your country, north, south; east or west, that will not be affected favorably. Your millionaire and your working man will equally feel the stimulus. At the present day Russia imports from the United States many times as much as she exports to this country. Last year we took from you products worth more than $65,000,000, while you took from us products worth only $1,000,000. This shows how much we need your products and how glad we are to get them. You sent us principally machinery. We sent you a small part of our agricultural crops. Now, when this new railroad is finished, we shall not only add vastly to your field, but we shall also bring our markets to your very doors. No other manufacturing nation is so situated that it can reach this new Homeseekers Excursions commercial area to so good advantage. The United States, through its Pacific port then enjoy privileges that, coupled with the conditions which have given you such at mportant place in the world's commerce will enable you to do business under favorable circumstances that other nations cannot change, either in the immediate resent or in the years to come. Not the least of your advantages lies in the fact that America's people and America's products are alike immensely popular with the people of Russia and her possessions. This feeling of goodwill exists whether he visits the hut of the peasant or the palace of the noble. In town and farming districts, we all speak of Americans as our "brothers across the sea." This feeling is literally all-persuasive. It may not be easy to trace its origin and growth, but it is easy enough to demonstrate that it exists. No observant American who has ever visited Rursia can have failed to notice it. We seem, in our country, to grow up with a strong love for the enterprising people on this side of the world. This sentiment is as strong with the individual as it is with the nation. I suppose that with us, as individuals, it is largely because we as a nation took sides with the United States at the time of its severest

Historical Reference. This must naturally have had its influence on us as a people, and with the passage of time our good feeling for you has spread among us until now, as I have said, the peasant and the noble, the merchant and the farmer, all alike, look upon all Amer icans as their brothers. This sentiment manifests itself in all sorts of striking ways, No American warship ever visited our waters that is not received with enthusinstic demonstrations, both on the part of our people and our authorities. When, during your civil war, some of the European governments were almost actively hostile, while nearly all were pathetic, Russia never wavered for a moment in her friendship for the United States. She showed openly and clearly where she stood. How much influence her action had in in the European courts it is impossible for
