IMPROVE TIME BEFORE LENTEN SEASON

Series of Events Enliven Hours Before Season of Lenten—Change Blossoms Almost Disrupt a Happy Home.

MONDAY, January 22—Omaha chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. L. P. Funkhouser, 201 Dodge street. Omaha Guards' model drill and dance. Mrs. T. J. Barnett in Los Angeles, Julia Edelman, daughter of B. W. Edelman, and H. Hugo Brandeis of this city. The service took place at 4 o'clock. Rabbi A. W. Edelman, grandfather of the bride, officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. Hecht of B'nai B'rith. Only relatives were present. The decorations in the drawing room were exquisite, being carried out in green and white. White satin and other emblems, suspended from the chandeliers to the walls of the room, formed a canopy which was studded with numerous pink and white electric lights, and white doves' nestled in the greenery. Underneath this canopy the beautiful ceremony of the wedding, Jewish law was performed. The bride wore a rich gown of cream white satin, trimmed with gossamer lace. The long veil of tulle was held in place with a diamond crescent and she carried a white prayer book. Miss Etta Jacoby, cousin of the bride, attended her at all of her duties. She wore a dainty gown of aerald-green silk and mull, trimmed with lovers' knots and a circle of pink mirror velvet, adding touches of color. Her bouquet was white hyacinths and maiden-hair ferns. A. W. Edelman, uncle of the bride, assisted as best man. At the close an elaborate dinner was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. Jacoby, in the house adjoining which the wedding took place. Here the decorations were pink and green. A canopy was formed over the long table with white and pink emblems. The decorations were conspicuous everywhere. After dinner a large reception for the younger set was held at the Barnett home from 8 until 12 o'clock. The affair was particularly brilliant, characterized by taste and elegance throughout. The wedding presents were notable for their magnificence, attesting the popularity of the bride, who was born in Los Angeles, where she has resided during her lifetime, and where she has always been a popular society favorite. The wedding tour will include stops at Monterey, San Francisco and other northern points, and will also extend to Florida and New Orleans, where Mr. and Mrs. Brandeis will witness the Mardi Gras. After March 1 they will reside in Omaha.

There was a slight improvement in the condition of Omaha society last week. A few more dancing parties, where informality reigned supreme, a reception under the same conditions, an engagement announcement and the meetings of the various clubs constitute the week's pleasures. Society folk, as well as the general continuity are forming in parties to attend the Paderewski concert at the capital city. Possibly the long-haired pianist would not enjoy the speech of a clever Omaha society girl who expressed her sentiments, and I believe the sentiments of a number of the musical element if they had the daring of the aforementioned young woman. One dollar and forty cents of her admission ticket was spent that she might be seen at the concert; the same amount was for a glimpse of the greatest virtuoso and the remaining 20 cents to hear the classic program. The decorations were nearly terminated by the doctor's love for a practical joke, and if the fates had not been merciful the mill that grinds divorces might have stopped at the doctor.

The domestic felicity of a certain prominent Omaha physician was nearly terminated by the doctor's love for a practical joke, and if the fates had not been merciful the mill that grinds divorces might have stopped at the doctor.

The doctor was enjoying the tempting vision of the midday meal when his little daughter came dancing into the room with a bonnet box which she had taken from her father's overcoat pocket.

"Candy, mamma," cried the little one, while her father with a cry sprang forward to seize the box.

But the brightest-eyed eluded him with peals of laughter for very joy at the prospect of a romp. The doctor looked guilty, feigned anger and finally fell back in sheer despair as the lid dropped from the box and the perfume of orange blossoms filled the air. A note fell to the floor which his wife quickly opened and read, with her mother turned red and then white, the mother-in-law was black in the face, but here is the letter:

"LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 14.—Dear Philip: I send you these orange blossoms as a reminder of the golden epiden days when we both were younger. I wonder if you think of those days as often and as tenderly as I do?

"I am spending the winter in this land of roses and there are many loving couples here on their honeymoon. I never see the poor young things without sighing and wondering if they have made a mistake, as I have. Poor, dear Jack is kindness itself, but he does not and cannot understand.

"Thank you so much for your little girl's photograph. I can see she is a little beauty, though she could not help that. And you named her Virginia! I wonder if I could guess why? Yours devotedly, as ever, "VIRGINIA."

After sufficient agony the doctor burst forth into floods of delight and began to search diligently in his pockets, while his wife wondered whether he were not a fit subject for the feeble-minded institute, and his mother-in-law knew not whether to attribute his unholly mirth to hysteria, guilt or delirium tremens.

After the doctor had turned his pockets inside out and found not the explanation, a look of blank despair came on his face, while the righteous wrath of both wife and mother-in-law came thick and fast upon his head. In-between sobs and sorny tears the wife declared her intentions to leave the "brute," while the "brute" after a moment's vision in vain, left the house with the firm determination of laying aside practical joking forever if he got out of that scrape.

At the office he ransacked his desk from top to bottom. Finally the coveted envelope emerged from beneath a pile of papers. But the letter explains the situation:

"LOS ANGELES, Cal., My Dear Dr. R.—If your wife fails to see that this is a joke I shall never forgive her. I include an olive branch with the flowers in case you should need it. I do not know how well preserved the flowers will be when they reach you, but here they are beautiful. We are having a delightful winter and I think the change is doing my mother good. We have decided to Anniversary Celebration. One of the very pleasant events of the last week was the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Edholm. Some of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edholm having in mind January 25, 1875, planned a surprise. The meeting place was at Mr. Anderson's residence. When the guests had all assembled they took the Edholm place by storm. The kitchen was turned over to the enterer, a number of women took possession of the dining room, while others had charge of the parlors. In a short time several bunches of very fragrant American Beauty roses, and a Chinese lily were an artistic appearance to the rooms. Es-Marshel C. J. Westerdahl made a speech full of congratulations and in the name of the assembled company presented to Mr. and Mrs. Edholm some exquisite solid silverware. Mr. Edholm thanked his friends for their kindness and had them a hearty welcome. At 11 o'clock the dining room doors were thrown open and a sumptuous supper was served. After the toasts "Auld Lang Syne" was sung.

Reception to Rev. Lower. A very pleasant social event was the reception tendered Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lower at their home, 2012 North Nineteenth street, to their son, Rev. William Barnes Lower, who is here on a visit from Bridgeport, Pa. It was also the anniversary of the twenty-sixth birthday of their younger son, Mr. Edwin K. Lower. Mrs. D. W. Morrow and Mrs. Fales read several papers and selections. Miss Cora Hoyer sang with much expression the "Flower Song" and several responses. Prof. Gillespie, accompanied by Mrs. Morrow, piano, and Miss Hays, voice, sang in the best music language the most familiar hymn, "Jesus, Jesus, Jesus." Refreshments were served at the usual hour, after which short speeches were made. Dr. Coulter responded to "When Doctors Diagnose," Prof. Gillespie "The Humorous Side of the Bible School," Rev. Mr. Patton "The Pulpit, the Press, the People," and Attorney John Cather "Law as a Profession." The speeches were filled with humor and well adapted to entertain and instruct.

Pleasant Surprise Party. The members of the Grand Army, together with the Women's Relief corps, numbering about fifty, surprised Mr. and Mrs. Adamsky at their home, 1133 North Eighteenth street, Tuesday evening, on account of their leaving Omaha to make their future home in New York. The evening was delightfully spent in playing cards and in a guessing contest. Later the K. O. B. C. Mandolin and Zither club played several selections. Mr. and Mrs. Adamsky received many beautiful presents. One of the gifts was an autograph thumb album, in which each member wrote a few words and left the print of his thumb.

An Evening at High Five. One of the pleasant events of the week was an entertainment given by Mr. and Mrs. P. B. High at their residence, 2020 Lake street. High five was the game of the evening, interspersed with music by Prof. Gellonbeck's Banjo and Mandolin club. A very inviting luncheon was served to the party guests. Carnations and smilax were profusely used in the different rooms. The prizes were two beautiful photo-colored pictures, which were awarded to Mrs. Adams and Mr. H. A. Haskell.

Mrs. Beaton's at Home. Mrs. Alfred Beaton gave a charming at home Thursday from 3 to 6. Although no cards were issued, the house was thronged with elegantly gowned callers during the appointed hours. The rooms were exquisite in pink colorings. Bridesmaid roses and pink carnations were profusely used, as well as candelabra with dainty pink shades. She was assisted in receiving her guests by Mesdames Cudaly, Connell, Engraves, K. Switzer, Nellie and Misses Towle, Orcutt, MoShane, Towle and McShane and Stone.

Charming Dish Supper. Miss Rowena Higginson gave an enjoyable chafing dish supper Wednesday for Miss Avery of Buffalo. Those who enjoyed the tempting viands were: Mrs. Winchestr, Misses Avery, Kilpatrick, Allen and Peck; Messrs. Croigh, Burns, Jones, Powell, Millard, Bauman and Dr. Lyman.

Delicious Party. Mrs. Maud Burgess entertained delightfully at cards Friday evening. The Friday club was pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Kennard.

Mrs. S. D. Barklow gave a luncheon Wednesday afternoon which was enjoyed by a few friends.

Mrs. James McCullough entertained informally Thursday afternoon a number of friends. Floral decorations and tempting refreshments added to the pleasure of the guests.

Mrs. Frank Parmelee entertained a number of friends from Kansas City Thursday evening at a sumptuous supper. The guest of honor was Captain Money, the champion shot of the world.

Mrs. W. L. Cookley entertained at luncheon Thursday in honor of Mrs. Fraser of Manitowish, Wis. Covers were laid for ten. The table was handsomely decorated with pink and white roses.

Mrs. Copley and Miss Collier entertained delightfully at cards Thursday afternoon a number of guests. The prizes were especially admired. Mrs. Ochiltree was the fortunate winner of the week.

The J. M. L. club met in the pleasant rooms of Miss Lena A. Summerman, 831 South Nineteenth street, Tuesday afternoon. Lunch was served at 5 o'clock and the ladies adjourned until their next meeting, February 6, 213 South Twenty-fourth street.

The All Saints' party given at the Wisconsin club rooms at Friday afternoon was a success, both socially and financially. Credit is due the committee of five women which had the party in charge, consisting of Mrs. J. Kaham, Mrs. B. F. Weaver, Mrs. L. A. Walsh, Mrs. John Crossman. The parties will continue until Lent.

Friday evening the K. of A. club was entertained at the home of Mr. Herman Lehmer. Progressive high five was the pastime of the evening. Miss Tresa Keys and Mr. Jaynes won the most games. Miss Keys was presented with a silver-handled, mother of pearl paper knife, engraved with Mr. Jaynes with a silver hat mark, also engraved K. of A.

Mrs. Michael Greeley entertained the Winter Card Club Wednesday afternoon at her home on North Nineteenth street. Ten games of what were played, after which a very delicious luncheon was served. The first prize, a handsome watch, was won by Mrs. J. F. Schmeizer; second prize, by Mrs. John Tanner of South Omaha; third prize, china cup and saucer, by Mrs. W. B. Fordyce.

The A. to S. club was delightfully entertained by Mr. and Mrs. S. Stockham Saturday evening at 1721 Douglas street. First prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. J. Rosenzweig, while Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Skinner carried off the consolation prizes. After refreshments a flashlight was taken by Mr. R. E. Bush. Mrs. Skinner will entertain the club at its next meeting, 539 Park avenue.

Mrs. Jussen-Donnelly gave a most enjoyable social for the pupils of the Lake school Monday afternoon. Miss Fitch being unavailably prevented from taking part in the recital, Hubert Owen, one of Mrs. Jussen-Donnelly's pupils, took her place. The enjoyment of the afternoon was very greatly enhanced by the vocal selections of Miss Roser and the instrumental numbers of Miss Kearas and Miss Harriette Smith.

A railroad party was given by Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Peters in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Price Wednesday evening. The hall was converted into a railroad station, where the guests assembled to check their baggage. The parlors were in representation of coaches, where the newsboy and conductor and brakeman held full sway. The dining room contained the typical lunch counter, where coffee and doughnuts were served.

The Southside Whist club was entertained by Mrs. Taggart last week in a most delightful manner. In addition to the regular club members several women who were past members were present, helping to make the occasion a most pleasant one. The first prize, a pretty china plate, was awarded to Mrs. Bryson; the second, a lovely piece of wedgewood, going to Mrs. Hall. At 5 o'clock dainty refreshments were served from most exquisite handpainted china.

Miss Jennie Philbrook celebrated her 11th birthday yesterday by giving an afternoon party to her little girl friends at her home, 1821 Locust street. After spending the afternoon with dolls and games a dainty luncheon was served at 5 o'clock. The birthday cake was surrounded by eleven candles; as each was blown out the guests made a wish, and 2012 North Nineteenth street, to their son, Rev. William Barnes Lower, who is here on a visit from Bridgeport, Pa. It was also the anniversary of the twenty-sixth birthday of their younger son, Mr. Edwin K. Lower. Mrs. D. W. Morrow and Mrs. Fales read several papers and selections. Miss Cora Hoyer sang with much expression the "Flower Song" and several responses. Prof. Gillespie, accompanied by of Omaha and is one of the most popular business men. The numerous presents attested to the esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends. Dainty refreshments were served and mirth and gaiety held sway till a late hour.

Wednesday afternoon at the residence of the bride's uncle, Mr. E. P. Sweeley of Madison avenue, in the presence of the family and a few intimate friends, occurred the marriage of Miss Grace P. Chapman to Mr. E. P. Sweeley of Madison, Kan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. Hoyer, who performed the marriage ceremony of the bride's parents twenty-four years ago. The bride looked very pretty in a simple dress of white and lace. The rooms were dainty in a garniture of green and white.
