not see how he could pay out the money on orders signed by Governor Taylor until he knew for certain who was the actual governor of Kentucky. He had asked an opinion from the attorney of the bank, he said, and when it was received he was satisfied that he was acting under proper authority. The attitude of the bank toward the Taylor vouchers created a decidedly hostile sentiment on the part of grocers who have been furnishing supplies to the soldiers and tonight they refused to honor any orders unless they were accompanied by cash. When this was reported to Adjutant General Collier at once furnished the necessary money. At the same time he announced that before the trouble he had foreseen the possible attitude of the bank and the grocers and had secured control of the state military appropriation. He had money enough, he said, to pay for everything. The grocers at once altered their opinion of the financial stability of the militia and supplies are now flowing into the camp as before.

At the appointed time the members fell into line and in columns of two, headed by the tall form of Speaker Trimble, the march was taken up toward the state house grounds. On both sides and in the rear came a large crowd. As Speaker Trimble approached the gate, which was guarded by two sentries, the soldiers stepped back, lowered their bayonets and allowed the speaker to pass through. "Are you a member of the legislature," asked one of the sentries. "I am," replied the speaker, as he started up the steps toward the capitol. The same question was put to the other members as they approached, and when it came the turn of the crowd the sentries fired the same query at every bunch and every bunch answered in chorus, "I am." The legislature numbered 600 by the time the speaker was at the capitol steps. Upon the landing at the top of the steps a long line of soldiers was drawn up, and the command of Captain Horace Cochran. Bayonets were fixed, the men stood firmly and it was evident to Mr. Trimble that the moment for negotiation had arrived. Approaching the captain he said: "We demand admission to the hall. We are members of the legislature and desire to hold a session." "Clerks Leigh of the house and Desha of the senate also demanded that they be allowed to enter.

Republicans Are Indignant. The action of Lillard, who is an ardent supporter of Geobel, aroused intense indignation among the republicans and it was declared that a detachment of soldiers would be sent to the penitentiary to take the man away by force if Warden Lillard persisted in his refusal to release Hayes. No such talk, however, came from the office of Governor Taylor or that of Adjutant General Collier. This talk was naturally resented by the democrats and Lillard received open offers of aid in case he should decide to engage in a battle with the soldiers over their refusal to enter the hall and Hayes out. When, this afternoon, his office was visited the warden was engaged in conversation over the telephone. He was giving the man at the other end of the wire information regarding the number of men who would be required to resist a possible attack. He hung off as several visitors entered his office and discontinued the conversation, declining to disclose the identity of the man at the other end of the wire. He was evidently asking him if he desired assistance. "I can do nothing else than hold the man," said the warden. "The situation is known to everybody and I cannot assume the responsibility of releasing men on the order of Taylor when the legislature has declared specifically that Geobel is the governor of the state. Had the pardon been received yesterday I would have let the man go and been glad to do so. I wish to keep no man in this place, but I must release convicts on the order of a man who, it has been declared by the lawmaking power of the state, has no right to issue such orders."

When asked if he intended to offer resistance to a detachment of troops if one should be sent to release Hayes, the warden replied: "Oh, no! It would not do for me to attempt any such thing as that. I have four hundred guards only and they could not do much against soldiers." When asked if he did not know where he could obtain plenty of help if he needed it, the warden said: "When the soldiers come up here and demand the keys for the purpose of taking out Hayes, I think they are likely to get them. If convicts are taken out of here in that manner, the responsibility will rest on the men who take him away and not upon me." No answer was returned to Governor Taylor, either by Warden Lillard or by the board of penitentiary commissioners. His letter was quietly ignored. It is possible that a reply will be made to it tomorrow, but it is not likely. It is now definitely decided that General John B. Castleman of Louisville is not to be adjutant general for Governor Geobel, and while it was expected last night with great positiveness that he had been appointed, it is expected tonight that he was never tendered the place. No man has been appointed as yet, but the name of Colonel T. J. Smith of the Third Kentucky infantry is prominently mentioned.

Militia Ignores Geobel. No attention whatever has been paid by the militia to Governor Geobel's orders to return to their homes. It is just as though the order had never been issued. Adjutant General Collier says no consideration will be given to any orders that may emanate from the Geobel headquarters. The legislature is making progress. Yesterday it was hurried around the town and raced through the streets by the militia. This morning a large portion of it was turned back at the gate of the state house grounds, when an attempt was made to reach the capitol building. This afternoon it reached the door of the building, and as a body it has strong hopes that the next attempt will be made to enter the legislative chambers. At 1 o'clock this afternoon printed notices were handed around the lobby of the capitol hotel, signed by Speaker Trimble, asking all members of the legislature to meet at 2 o'clock, preparatory to holding a session.

New Orleans Bucket Shop Falls. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 1.—Several suits were filed today in the civil courts by creditors of the bucketshop firm of Bacheller & Co. The offices of the firm were closed today. The amount of the firm's indebtedness is said to be as high as $200,000. Bacheller was formerly a member of the firm of Bacheller, Baldwin & Co. of New York.

Will Not Resist Troops. When asked if he intended to offer resistance to a detachment of troops if one should be sent to release Hayes, the warden replied: "Oh, no! It would not do for me to attempt any such thing as that. I have four hundred guards only and they could not do much against soldiers." When asked if he did not know where he could obtain plenty of help if he needed it, the warden said: "When the soldiers come up here and demand the keys for the purpose of taking out Hayes, I think they are likely to get them. Officer Says He Has a Clue. Member of the Legislature Tells of Two Men Seen Hitting from Executive Building. CINCINNATI, Feb. 1.—A special to the Times-Star from Cincinnati, Ky., says: "The office of the Covington police force has a clue to the assassins of Geobel which he is shortly working. The officer arrived here shortly after the shooting. He was told by a certain member of the house that he was standing in the street at the time of the shooting and immediately after the shooting saw two men running swiftly from the rear of the executive building, from whence the shots were fired. The member told the officer that he did not want his name mentioned at the present time, but if there are any arrests made, and when it gets into court, I will be ready to testify, and I think my testimony will be substantially enough to place the crime where it belongs." The officer positively refused to give the legislator's name.

Details of Taylor's Message. FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 1.—It is understood this morning that Governor Taylor to President McKinley, contained between 800 and 1,000 words and giving the reasons for appealing as governor to the national administration for assistance. Governor Taylor gave a brief report of the progress of the state in connection with the contest since the election last November. He cited the election figures reported offi-

WILL LET THEM FIGHT IT OUT. Federal Government Has No Intention of Interfering in Kentucky Affairs.

NO CALL FOR FEDERAL TROOPS RECEIVED. Intervention by the United States Authorities in the Blue Grass State Controversy Too Remote to Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—No call for federal troops has yet been received from Kentucky. Moreover, the officials of the War department see no reason to expect an application at this time certainly and probably not at all. The official view is that the present contest in Kentucky is purely a state matter, and up to this moment it has presented no features that would warrant the intervention of the United States government. The exact functions of the United States army when acting in this state have been most carefully defined and set out in general order No. 26, promulgated July 24, 1894. Under the terms of this order the government of the United States can in its own volition use the federal troops within a state only when "insurrection, domestic violence, unlawful combinations or conspiracies in any state so obstruct or hinder the execution of the laws thereof and of the United States as to deprive any portion or class of the people of such state of any of the rights, privileges or immunities, or protection, named in the constitution, and secured by the laws for the protection of such rights, privileges or immunities, and the consent of the authorities of such state are unable to protect or from any cause fail in or refuse protection of the people in such rights."

SIBLEY STIRS UP DEMOCRATS. Assails His Colleagues for Their Opposition to Territorial Expansion.

AN ORIGINAL DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE. Promulgated by Jefferson and Adhered to by His Successors—Receives Greatest Ovation Given a Speaker This Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Representative Joseph Sibley of Pennsylvania, who attained great prominence in the Fifty-fourth congress by his earnest championship of free silver, assailed his democratic colleagues today for their opposition to expansion in a speech that made the floor and galleries roar. Sibley has recanted his views on free silver and is now generally out of line with his colleagues on the democratic side. He insisted today that expansion was an original democratic doctrine promulgated by Jefferson and adhered to by Madison, Jackson, Tyler, Polk and Buchanan. In eloquent language he pictured the destiny of the United States carrying the arts of peace and the glory of the cross to the remotest corners of the globe. Sibley received an impressive demonstration when he closed. The remainder of the debate was uninteresting. It touched the question of mediation in the Transvaal war, prevailing in the south and the law in Hawaii. Not much progress was made with the Indian bill, which was under consideration. Sibley in his speech criticized his fellow democrats for opposing the annexation of the Philippines. He had, he said, heard no argument against territorial enlargement which was not urged against the annexation of Louisiana and Texas.

ALLEN HAPS SECRETARY GAGE. Shows the Replies of the Secretary to Senate Resolutions Are Not Sufficient.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—In the senate the resolution of Allen discharging the finance committee from further consideration of his resolution calling for information from the secretary of the treasury with reference to his transaction with the National City bank and the Hanover National bank of New York was laid before the senate. Allen averred that the replies of the secretary of the treasury had not been sufficient. He reviewed the reply of Secretary Gage to his resolution. He read the now famous letter addressed to Secretary Gage by A. B. Hepburn, vice president of the National City bank, in which reference was made to the bank directors' part in the campaign of 1890. Allen admitted that no reply was made to that letter, but he said, that its object was attained was evidenced by the fact that when the letter was written the National City bank had an deposit less than $20,000 of government money, while less than a month later the government deposit in that bank was about $2,000,000.
