Gilg Tells of Club Congress

By JIM GILG National 4-H club congress—to me it is a dream come true, a 4-Her's paradise.

It is the goal every 4-Her wishes to achieve. After six years of 4-H work I achieved my dream in my last active year of club work. (I plan to attend college and in Nebraska, you must quit after a semester in college unless you are attending an agricultural college.) How can I describe the beauty and grandeur and the fabulous entertainment of the congress? It's like the look in a little boy's eyes as he looks at his toys on Christmas morning; "it's beyond description". But before I get into the actual account of my trip, I must first tell you how it came about.

Lightning does strike twice in the same place. I won my trip on farm demonstration. Last year, my sister, Mary Claire, won a trip to the congress on the same merit. Last year she and I gave the demonstration together and must confess it was pretty hard to see her go tripping off on a trip that I too had slaved for. But this only made me more determined to work harder. So early this year I began to plan for a good demonstration that I hoped would hit the jackpot for me.

The whole idea came about through an unfortunate experience of my brother, Jack. He was helping rope cattle with the old fashioned method of roping and tying the animal. Jack's job was to hold the calf and he saw it quit struggling and die before his very eyes. Jack kept saying it we'd only had dad's chute gate this never would have happened. So came an idea that took me to the Windy city. Why not demonstrate dad's chute so everyone would have a safe way to work his cattle?

Scale Model Dad made us a scale model of his chute gate and after much practice and research on safety, we were ready to give our demonstration at county fair at Chambers where we received a purple ribbon. This entitled us to give our demonstration at Lincoln where we again received a purple ribbon and entitled me to the national 4-H club congress.

At noon, we were hosted at luncheon and some fabulous entertainment by General Motors corporation. There we were each wonder. This was entertainment it's best. In this type of movie, you are made to believe that you are actually living every moment. I was in a plane making a trip around the world, finding the Seven Wonders. Although I have never ridden in a real airplane, I can truly say that I know what it is like.

Tuesday morning we were given a special breakfast by the Sears Roebuck foundation. There we were entertained by the famous Prudue Chorales. Their perfect harmony and blending of voices was a real inspiration. Later in the morning we witnessed the National 4-H Dress Revue at the 8th Street theater.

Walk Along Lake

At noon, the boys were given a luncheon sponsored by the National Live Stock Producers association. Again we were entertained by the best. We toured Museum of Natural History later in the afternoon. Another Nebraska and I walked to Lake Michigan. The lake was anything but quiet and the huge waves filled me with awe and humility.

Tuesday night was the John B. Clark friendship party at the Aragon ballroom. Music was by Gay Clairidge and his orchestra. This was truly a teenager's dream. The Aragon was magnificent with stars twinkling on the ceiling with little clouds floating by.

Wednesday morning found us at another special breakfast given by the Chicago and North Western Railroad. At noon we were given a luncheon and entertained by Ford Motor company. There we were given our memorable national 4-H club congress scrapbook. In the afternoon we attended show in the International amphitheater where we saw the horse show and Arthur Godfrey and his horse, Goldie.

That evening Wilson and company provided us with a box supper and entertainment. The 4-Her's parade through the amphitheater later in the evening. Thursday we were given a motor coach tour of Chicago where we saw the various places of interest. We drove down Lake Shore drive, the busiest street in the world.

At noon, we were hosted at luncheon and some fabulous entertainment by General Motors corporation. There we were each

Words Lacking

On Friday morning, December 6, we left Chicago at 8:30 a.m., and arrived in Omaha at 5:30 p.m., that evening. A group of tired and happy 4-Hers returned from having the time of their lives.

Words can never express the value of this trip to me. I have gained knowledge of unlimited value from the experiences of the congress. I realize the responsibility placed on me by being able to attend. I hope I may benefit those at home with the knowledge I have gained and inspire them to broader horizons. I am proud to be a part of an organization that has friends all over the world.

First I want to thank the state board of agriculture, which sponsored my trip. Only in America could a farm youth receive such honors. I made friends and shared experiences with other 4-Hers from all over our great country and from all over the world. I have returned thankful for this opportunity and humble and grateful to be a member of such an organization.

However, I could never have achieved this award without the help of a great many wonderful people. My own good leaders, who have given me so much of their time and inspiration, our state extension leaders and our county extension officers. Their advice and guidance helped me reach my final goal.

My own family always found time in their busy schedule to give me that extra help and encouragement that I needed.

Especially, do I thank my brother, Jack, who through a sad experience of his own and a lot of hard work, helped me achieve this honor. May he, too, when he is old enough, be as fortunate.
