En Masse Mission Study Planned

CHAMBERS—Members of St. Paul's Lutheran church are going to attend mission school in a body! "The logic is simple," explained Rev. William Ruten, pastor. "Our missionaries go to mission school. Christ asked every Christian to be a missionary. Therefore, we should go to mission school."

Plans call for a three-night study course in the needs, problems, methods and achievements of the world mission fields of the Lutheran church (Missouri synod). "Purpose of the school is to develop interest in what St. Paul's church members feel is their job, though carried on every continent," Pastor Ruten added. On Sunday night, January 26, St. Paul's will present "10 best mission stories of 1957." Monday night's session will feature a "Bible basis for missions" panel presentation. Panel members will be Vernon Harley, Richard Sunderman, and Lyle Walker. Pastor Ruten will point out Tuesday night "what to watch for in our world missions"—a forecast for 1958. Programs will be amplified with filmstrips. The Sunday-school children will present a pageant written by Mrs. J. W. Walter, to demonstrate the need for missions. Spiritual motivation for the mission emphasis will be provided by "motives for missions" bookmarks of Bible readings, issued to all members. Designed as a springboard to lead into the congregation's February personal-evangelism emphasis and for the entire year's mission program, the school is timed to be held during the church's Epiphany season. Special prayers will be offered
