New Milk Plant Is One-Month-Old

The Lucerne fluid milk plant at 72d and J sts., Omaha, is the newest addition to Omaha's industrial family. The plant is one-month-old. Ground was broken little more than a year ago.

The Lucerne plant on land purchased from Safeway Stores has a capacity of 86,000 pounds of milk daily and is expected to buy near 1½-million-dollars worth of milk a year from certain producers of the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Producers' Coop.

There is endless piping and tubing in the plant, great steel tanks (some large enough to walk in), red, green and yellow lights at control panels, motors whirring, packaging machines.

This modern push-button plant, visitors declare, must have cost a million dollars.

Al Hilldrup, manager, claims the plant will do 60 times better than the minimum required under federal, state and local requirements for Grade A milk. Lucerne furnishes dairy products for Safeway stores.

This photo of the new 76-thousand-dollar Christ Lutheran church was taken Sunday morning moments before the doors were formally opened for the first time.
