

Pony Balks at Sight of Snake

CELIA — Glenn and Rodney, two small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fricke, started out horseback to visit their Hoffman cousins about five miles away. After traveling a little over two miles they came upon a huge bull snake, sunning himself across the road.

The pony refused to continue on and eventually took the boys back home. Their father took them to visit their cousins the following day.

Lives on Belgium Farm

O'Neil Girl at World's Fair

(Editor's note: Miss Alice Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Young of O'Neil, is an international farm youth exchange student spending three months in Belgium. A report follows.)

Dear Friends:
Here I am in Belgium, happily settled and having a great time! This I miss most is the Nebraska sunshine. I have seen the sun for a short time three out of five days since I have been here. I am beginning to understand that weather can be a problem as well as dry.

I am staying with John Vincent family in the village of Vergnies (population 200), approximately 60 miles from Brussels. The family has had three IFYE's before me and my son was an IFYE delegate to the United States last year. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent (John and Marie), Grandma, 84, Andrew, 23, and a married daughter, Monique, whose husband works with the men in the field.

They are at the present time making hay—whenever they can. The entire family is very nice and is extremely good to me. We have lots of fun together. Andrew can speak very good English so I especially enjoy talking with him. However, it doesn't improve my French!

I am learning a little but there is so much to learn. When the family and I talk, it's a dramatic show (ha). They are very patient, however, and we usually get the point across. It was difficult to know what to do at first. I felt like a little puppy following them around and watching every move. But now I can go ahead with a few things.

The farm is quite large with dairy and beef cattle. The Vincents milk over 20 cows, separate and make butter from the cream. The family has four milking machines, and a huge separator. They feed the calves all the skimmed milk.

The grandmother is very active and does much work. She finished knitting a nice pair of wool socks yesterday. She tried to teach me to make all the socks for the entire family. The family is jolly and great for jokes. I went horseback riding and wore Andrew's cowboy boots which he acquired in Montana. When I went to put my shoes on I found a tick in each. I don't know who did it. Andrew or John. Each blames the other. I am now trying to conjure up something to do to them.

The house is quite large with electric refrigerator and radio. The bathroom has only cold water, but the Vincents plan to get hot water in a year or so. My room (which was Andrew's) is roomy with nice furniture. I have a large bed, two night stands, dresser and wardrobe. Calendars (rugs) complete my room.

A cousin of Andrew's is getting married Saturday—quite an occasion. I am to be in the wedding with a formal and all. We borrowed it from Monique and I have to do a little altering. I am thrilled at being in the wedding party and am anxious to see what it will be like. At the same time, I am worried about my limited French. They will probably tell me to march left and I'll march right—or something.

I didn't understand until yesterday that I was to be in the party. The forepart of the week I thought it was Andrew who was getting married, but discovered later that the cousin's name and Andrew's are pronounced very much the same. Our 43 IFYE's had a very good trip over on the Arosa Star (a German liner), sailing from Montreal on June 17 and docking at Le-Havre, France, June 27. Some of the 800 people aboard were sick with sea sickness and some with flu. I didn't get sick at all.

We spent the afternoon and night on June 27 in Paris. The two Belgium delegates (Bill from Kentucky and myself) left by train for Brussels at 8 a.m. and arrived at 12:15 p.m. We stayed at a hotel in Brussels the rest of the day and until 9 a.m. Monday, when we were taken by the agriculture attache to our respective farms.

During our stay in Brussels, Bill and I spent 15 hours at the world's fair. It is really fabulous! It is much prettier and better organized than I had expected. The "floor plan" of the ground is terrific. It is like a big beautiful park. We didn't have time to go inside many buildings. For those of you who do not have my address it is: Alice M. Young, c/o John I. Kross, Agriculture Attache, American Embassy, Brussels, Belgium.

Naturally, I would appreciate hearing from any of you whenever you can find time. A 15-cent stamp will get the letter to me airmail. I don't know how much it costs by boat. It costs me 12 cents to mail a letter airmail, providing it's not to many pages. Hope this finds everyone fine and dandy! Bye for now. —ALICE YOUNG
