Mrs. Ben Bazelman, nee Cecelia C. Bahl . . . an August bride at Emmet church—O'Neill Photo Co.

Cecelia C. Bahl, Ben Bazelman Wed in Emmet Church

(Photo at left.)

EMMET—A simple late summer wedding was solemnized Monday, August 18, at the Church of the Epiphany in Emmet when Miss Cecelia C. Bahl, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Bahl, became the bride of Ben Bazelman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Bazelman of O'Neill.

Miss Ellen Havranek accompanied Miss Bonnie Burival who sang "Ave Maria", "Panis Angelicus" and as the bride placed a bouquet on the Blessed Mother altar Miss Burival sang a Consecration to Our Lady.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, appeared in a floor-length gown of rosepoint lace and nylon tulle over layers of net and taffeta. The gown was fashioned with a molded bodice featuring a dropped waistline, edged with sequined medallions. Matching medallions trimmed the wide V neckline. The long sleeves tapered to bridal points over her wrists. The very bouffant skirt, worn over hoops featured panels of rosepoint lace in front and back.

A very small queen's crown of lace and sequins held her veil of pure silk French illusion in place. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds and rubrum lilies and a silver crystal rosary, a gift of her godparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bahl. She also carried a silk handkerchief which her mother carried at her wedding 42 years ago. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, blue and a penny in her shoe.

Mrs. James Schmitz, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor. Miss Joanne Lansworth, friend of the bride, was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of white organdy with pink, blue and green embroidered cummerbunds. This embroidery was repeated in the skirt and in a wide band near the hemline. They wore blue whisper veils trimmed with minute blue bows and carried cascade bouquets of pink roses and rubrum lilies.

The only jewelry was a single cultured pearl suspended from a gold spider chain.

Tom Langan, classmate of the bridegroom, and James Schmitz, brother-in-law of the bride, served as groomsmen.

The best man and his attendants wore dark summer suits. The bride's mother wore a light lilac-colored dress with black and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink lace dress with black and white accessories. Their corsages were of white asters and roses.

Ushers were Arnold Bahl and Allen Martin. Mass servers were Morris and Richard Pongratz.

A dinner for about 85 guests was given at noon by the bride's parents.

The reception was held in the afternoon for about 150 guests.

A large three-tier wedding cake, topped with white roses atop a prayerbook, centered the reception table. It was baked and decorated by Mrs. Homer Ernst.

Mrs. Don Engler, sister of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Jerry Bahl and Mrs. Wendell Bahl, sisters-in-law of the bride, poured.

Mrs. Ken Huston had charge of the guest book and LaDonna McNulty and Bonnie Burival helped with the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Bazelman are both graduates of St. Mary's academy.

For traveling the bride chose a navy blue sheath with very brief checked jacket with white accessories.

After a short wedding trip they will be at home in their new home in East O'Neill.

Atkinson's New Pool Packs 'Em In

Atkinson's new swimming pool was opened to the public Saturday at 1 p.m., culminating a community-wide movement. The pool cost was in excess of 26-thousand-dollars. Initially Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weller donated $12,500 to start a fund after pool bond proposals had been defeated twice at the polls. Public contributions raised the balance.

The completed and equipped installation was turned over to the city of Atkinson for maintenance and operation in ceremonies last Thursday. Mayor Willard Linville appointed a park commission: Dr. James E. Ramsey, chairman; Robert Keating, secretary; Don Smith, Leo Seger and Irven Parsons. Pool manager is Sewell Johnson. William Miller is lifeguard.—The Frontier Photo.

Mrs. Edward Vincent Smith . . . before her August 16 marriage she was Miss Shirley Ann Leahy—O'Neill Photo.

Shirley Ann Leahy, Bride of Coloradoan

The altar of St. Patrick's Catholic church in O'Neill was decorated with sprays of gladioli Saturday, August 16, for the nuptial mass and doubling wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Shirley Ann Leahy, daughter of Mrs. Fred Fritton, and Edward Vincent Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Smith of Denver, Colo.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her brother, Robert Fritton, appeared in a gown, designed with a basque waist of heirloom lace, extending along the side to the bottom of the bouffant floor-length skirt of illusion. The finger-ring illusion veil fell from a pearl-encrusted crown of lace, matching that of the gown. She wore matching pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried two white orchids amidst feathered carnations and long white streamers.

The maid-of-honor, Miss Constance Smith, sister of the bridegroom, wore a ballerina-length gown of aqua-blue crystallette, with a crown of blue and white poms on her head. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white poms to match those in her hair.

Flowergirls, Misses Phyllis Rosno and Mary Kay Knickrehm, cousins of the bride, were dressed in white organdy frocks with aqua-blue cummerbunds. They carried white baskets of flowers and wore blue and white flower encrusted bands over their heads.

John Schultz of Denver, friend of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushering was James Coughlin, also of Denver. The men were attired in white jackets and black trousers and wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Fritton, the bride's mother, appeared in a coral-toned shantung dress with matching hat. Mrs. Smith, the bridegroom's mother, wore a rose lace dress with feathered hat to match. Both wore orchid corsages.

Miss Cecelia Arbuthnot accompanied Mrs. Jack Lyness who sang "Panis Angelicus", "Ave Maria", and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother".

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner were given by the bride's mother at St. Mary's gymnasium for 100 friends and relatives.

For leaving, the bride chose a pink embroidered cotton dress with matching accessories. Following a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Denver.
