

C&NW Finally Gets Commission's Okay

But Two Trains Were Stopped in July

The Nebraska state railway commission Tuesday authorized the Chicago & North Western railway to drop trains 13 and 14 between Omaha and Chadron following receipt of a supreme court mandate effective September 29. Effect of the action is to settle a long drawn out controversy over a contempt action brought originally by Save the Trains association against the railroad for removing the trains, the last two passenger trains between Omaha and Chadron, July 7.

The action justifies the railroad's action in dropping the trains when it did, and throws out a motion for rehearing of the case filed by the association.

Save the Trains contended the railway took upon itself the high court's power in not waiting for a mandate to withdraw the trains.

The railroad maintained there was no Nebraska statute covering its action, only a long standing rule observed by all parties involved in such actions.

Last July 3, the supreme court reversed a March order of the railway commission which gave Save the Trains a rehearing of a February 7 commission order permitting the railroad to drop the trains.

Still pending in the case is another separate action in which Save-the-Trains has appealed a contempt action brought originally in district court in Omaha.

The Newport Telephone company, Newport, secured commission authority to make revisions in its tariffs covering hours of service, effective last Saturday.

The KBR Rural Public Power district of Ainsworth won commission authority to construct an electric transmission line in Brown county.

Sergeant Banks, Family Here

Sgt. Orville Banks, his wife and their two children, Mary Beth, 3, and Correen, 2, arrived Saturday for a two-day visit with Sergeant Banks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Banks. They are enroute from Detroit, Mich., to Ft. Riley, Kans. Sergeant Banks has been in service eight years. He recently spent year in Greenland. At Riley he will be a tank commander. His sister, Miss Helen, who has spent two years in Detroit, came to O'Neill with the family and will remain here with her parents.—The Frontier Photo.

Purchases Locker Plant at Elgin

ATKINSON—Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cleary of Atkinson have purchased the locker plant at Elgin from Fred J. Tupa. They will take possession and begin operation on Monday, October 20.

Mr. Cleary has been in the butcher and locker plant business in Atkinson since 1933. He first worked for the Chace Meat market and in 1946 he and a brother, Clem, purchased the business.

In 1956 the partnership was dissolved and in March of this year Mr. Cleary sold the business to Elmer Spence.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleary have a son and daughter in college at Atchison, Kans., and four sons in grade school.

Dies in Portland

Dennis P. Hynes (above), who ranched northeast of Atkinson many years, died Saturday, September 27, in Portland, Ore., where he had been residing since 1940. Survivors include the widow, four sons, one daughter, three brothers and two sisters.

European Tour Group Reunites—Mrs. Esther Harris and Miss Thelma Young went to Blair Saturday where they attended a get-together of the members who had made a recent tour. Mrs. Harris visited Europe earlier this summer.

On Sunday they visited with Mrs. V. R. Bell at the Crowell Memorial home in Blair and, together with Mrs. Bell, visited with Miss Elje McCullough. Miss Young also visited her sister in Omaha.

By MRS. N. D. ICKES, SR., Special Correspondent

In The Frontier last spring a picture of the Elkhorn river with a man and a boat had us all wondering just where the picture was taken and who the man was?

It was an old-fashioned picture with an ornate border. It had an accompanying story, picturesque language written by a poet who truly gave a remarkable history of the river and the country through which it flowed.

After carefully checking with members of her family to be sure of her facts, Mrs. Fred W. Lindberg of Anncar route, O'Neill sent me the following information.

She says: "The picture was taken on our home place by the ford. Our house was located about 16 rods northeast of the picture. My father, William A. Gannon, bought this 320-acre farm from Frank Conrad of Inman. We moved there from Wisner in 1900. After the death of our parents, the estate was held by heirs, then sold to Mrs. Grace Briggs of Inman. The present owner is Mrs. Elsie Briggs Knowles, who is now occupying the farmstead.

"There were five girls and one boy in our family. Three of my sisters were school teachers in Los Angeles, Calif. Edna and Rena taught as long as their health would permit. They are now deceased. Helen is still teaching and is near retirement.

"Bertha and Blanche (myself) took up nurse's training. She is still caring for several patients in California.

"I was graduated from Wise hospital in Omaha. We raised five children and I am inclined to believe the man in the boat was with the photographer.

"I can recall many Sunday-school picnics, Fourth of July celebrations, swimming parties, skating parties, ball games and fishing parties as well as family reunions, anniversary observances and Ladies' Aid meetings at our home.

"Les Lamason, Ben Lamason, Elmer Tavener's parents used to join us in some of these gatherings. Jesse Kelly's parents and my parents were special friends."

The scene has been enlarged and framed. It was a postcard size best-seller in the days when scenic post cards were sold at the drug stores and sent about the country.

Along with the picture of the Elkhorn, Mrs. Lindberg gives us a glimpse of family life as lived beside the stream in an era and a manner that has now become history.

Not much of nature missed the eye of the poetic scribe as the variation of the seasons was noted in the pattern of that yesterday—the so-called "good old days."

Breakfast Break For Mom

Want to speed and simplify breakfast preparation and clean-up? Here's how many working mothers are now doing it.

Following the after-dinner clean-up, many capable homemakers who must conserve every moment in the morning set the electric coffee-maker and prepare fruit juice for breakfast. With a tight lid on the container and proper refrigeration, there is almost no loss of vitamin C when juice is prepared in advance. Before going to bed at night the table is set with paper cups, paper dishes, paper plates, paper place mats and paper napkins and a cereal bar is set up where each member of the family can pick up his own package.

In the morning a goodly quantity of toast for a large family can be made all at once under the broiler while top-of-the-stove cooking is in progress. And an easy breakfast trick that is sure to be popular is the cereal and egg combination pictured above. The recipe is simple, but if your family has gourmet tastes, you can add some herbs to the cereal while heating, or a few chopped chives to the eggs.

Egg and Cereal Sramble
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-1/2 cups rice or wheat cereal squares
6 eggs, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water or milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Heat butter in skillet. Add cereal squares and turn with fork until lightly browned. Remove from skillet and keep warm. If necessary, add a small amount of extra butter. Mix eggs, water, salt and pepper. Pour into heated skillet and cook, stirring from bottom of skillet until just set. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

One suburban working mother says that as she clears the table and disposes of the paper items with one flick of the wrist, she gleefully recalls all the egg-coated plates she doesn't have to wash. A quick scalding of the coffee-maker, a whisking of the flat silver, and she is off to catch the 8:05 to her job in New York, confident of a well-fed family and a spotless kitchen.

Parachutist Wings to Jim Tomlinson

Army Pvt. James R. Tomlinson, son of Richard L. Tomlinson, recently was graduated from the 82d airborne division jump school at Ft. Bragg, N.C.

Tomlinson received his parachutist wings after having completed a course which included five training jumps.

An automatic rifleman in company B of the division's 504th Infantry, he entered the army in May, 1938, and completed basic combat training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. Tomlinson was last stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo.

The 20-year-old soldier, whose mother, Mrs. Doris A. Tomlinson, lives in Cedar Rapids, is a 1937 graduate of O'Neill high school.

Anniversaries Noted—
Tuesday the 18th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Benze and the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Richard Graham, their niece, were celebrated at a family dinner at the home of Mrs. Graham's mother, Mrs. Francis Schoenle.
