Eyeglasses For The Needy

DON'T THROW away those old specs. They can provide second sight for those many who could not otherwise afford it - via a unique charity called New Eyes For The Needy in Short Hills 4, New Jersey. Through the collection of discarded eyeglasses, sunglasses and odd bits of jewelry, this organization over the past 25 years has helped 200,000 needy persons obtain new prescription glasses, and countless others in foreign lands to better sight. Metal frames and jewelry are sold to a refiner, with the proceeds used for "new glasses" funds at hospitals. Sunglasses and plastic frame glasses are tested, classified and sent to needy missions across the seas.
