A hobby show was held at the American Legion auditorium in O'Neill Saturday, October 25, for benefit of Grattan township library. Mrs. Harry D. Gildersleeve was in charge. Club members served refreshments to visitors.

There was a variety of displays including antique clocks owned by Jack Dailey. His oldest clock is believed to be 150-years-old with the others dating back to around 1880. These clocks were purchased from various antique dealers around the state. Two of the clocks in his collection are made of iron. Two hallway grandfather clocks in his collection were not on display because their size made it difficult to move them.

Other attention compelling displays were a baby cradle and a rocking horse, both hand made and displayed by Mrs. Hermut Arnold. Mrs. Matthew Beha baked and decorated a wedding cake.

Other displays included hand-hooked rugs, needlepoint, oil paintings, model airplanes, hats, leather work, bed spreads, jewelry, an antique music box, dolls, stamps, antique collections of dishes, silver, pictures, books and guns.

An estimated two hundred persons visited the displays. Approximately $91 will be turned over to the library for purchase of books. Visitors to the show were enthusiastic. One insisted that everyone in the county should have the opportunity of viewing the exhibits.

Contributors to the show were Ray Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Gildersleeve, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Burgess, Joe Dufek, Adolph Latzel, C. Washecke, Donald Cleveland, Frank Petrow, Norman and Russel Kopetjka.
