20th Child Born to Niobrara Couple

NIORARA—The latest addition to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Robinette is Marketta, the 20th child born to the parents. Mr. Robinette is 48, his wife is 43. However, Mrs. Robinette says "it seems kind of strange around here because we have only four children still at home." Of the 13 sons and daughters still living, Mrs. Robinette explained, 5 are attending Mount Marty Mission school near Yankton, S.D., 3 are married and one is in the U.S. army. Seven of the children died when young. Both Mr. and Mrs. Robinette were born in the Niobrara area. Robinette, who traces his lineage to early-day French explorers in the Great Plains, runs cattle with two brothers.

Winters' Steers Hit $43.30 in Black Sale

The fourth annual "black Friday" sales, sponsored by the Holt County Angus Breeders' association, have been entered in the archives.

The first—at the Atkinson Livestock Market—was held Friday, October 17. The second—at the O'Neill Livestock Market—was held Friday, October 24.

"Both sales met with approval of buyers and sellers," according to Blaine Garwood of Amelia, association president.

A total of 1,901 head of blacks went through the Atkinson ring. Steer calves averaged $39.95 cwt. and heifer calves averaged $34.65. Yearling steers hit an average of $39.50 and yearling heifers, $36.55.

Top carload of steers brought $42.40 while the top car of heifers were bid in at $37.30. These were consigned by Louis Vitt of O'Neill.

"The quality and prices were good," association officials declared.

ATKINSON

Bob Revell of O'Neill showed the top placing single lot in the O'Neill sale which saw a "good type" offering. Revell was awarded the trophy from the association. Garwood sold the top steers at 56 cents.

Top lots of calves were consigned by John Winters of Bartlett. His 400-pound steers brought $43.30—easily the top of both sales. His 400-pound heifers were bought for $39.00.

Wayne Cuatt's 356-pound steers for $39.00, his 349 pound heifers for $35.00.

Yearling steers in the O'Neill sale averaged $31.90.

Blake Bensons Have Look at East, South

The blacks and whites were getting along all right and integration was being accomplished until the federal government poked its nose in.

That's the summation of Blake Benson after a month's trip in the South and East.

"I talked with lots of people mostly for making conversation—and both races gave me the same story," said Mr. Benson, semiretired O'Neill rancher.

Mr. Benson and his wife returned Tuesday, October 21, from a five-thousand-mile trip. They drove through Minnesota and Wisconsin to Stratford, Ont., Can. for their first stop of several days with friends.

From there they went to Niagara Falls, N. Y., and by turnpike to Patterson, N. J., where they visited the home of Mrs. Louis Paulter, her husband and their two sons.

From New Jersey the Bensons leisurely drove to Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., into Virginia, Maryland, Tennessee (where they toured the Tennessee Valley authority project known as Norris dam), Kentucky and Missouri.

The Bensons visited tobacco farms and cotton plantations and "loafed" all the way.

Mr. Benson said the South is dotted with many fine Negro schools and said there is a considerable increase in industrial activity there.

Visit at College—
