Gillespie Leaves for Club Congress

Electricity holds no mystery for Gary Gillespie, 16, 205 South Harrison. He is the 1958 state champion in the 4-H electric program, according to the state extension service.

Young Gillespie has been an active 4-H'er for five years. He is assistant leader of the electric project in the Willing Workers 4-H club.

His first project was a toy motor which took a prize at the state fair. The following year his electric demonstration also won a state award. Recently he built a portable motor and grinder which won Holt county and state recognition.

Gillespie left here Friday for Chicago, Ill., on an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Club congress, accompanying his uncle, Robert Eby, to Omaha from where he left for Chicago by rail. He will return to O'Neill Saturday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gillespie.

The electric award is provided by Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

Symbolic Tree Also Is Hazard

Symbolic of the yuletide season, the Christmas tree has brought much happiness to each generation. However, in spite of the gleam of its lights, the glowing color of its fragile ornaments, and its general beauty, a Christmas tree can represent an invitation to tragedy. This does not mean that it should be abolished, but safety precautions must be observed.

Whether a tree is ceiling high or small enough to stand on a table, the base should be steady and properly weighted to insure balance.

Keep the trunk of the tree in moist sand or water, adding water daily.

Test the light cords and bulbs for possible shorts, before installing them, and do not overload the circuits.

Do not hang metal foil icicles over wires or tree lights.

Use a stepladder when you put the star on the tree top, or the mistletoe above the door. Never use candles on or near the tree.

Place the tree well away from fireplace or stove.

Use nonflammable decorations and fresh greens around the house.

While wearing his fuzzy suit and whiskers, Santa should never smoke.

Always turn off the tree lights before leaving the house. Enjoy your tree while you can, but do not keep it in the house longer than ten days or two weeks, for even with the best of care it will dry out and become a serious fire hazard.

Annual Thanksgiving Dinner for Class

PAGE—Members of the Friendship Sunday-school class, as has been the custom for many years, held their annual Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening, November 25. They dined in the Wesleyan room with Mesdames Elmer Trowbridge, Gus Robinson, George Chase and Arnold Stewart in charge of the serving arrangements.

The menu was roast chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, baked beans, creamed green peas, cabbage salad, cranberries, rolls, butter, jelly, pickles, pumpkin pie and coffee.

Mrs. Harry Harper and Mrs. Jesse Kelly presented a Thanksgiving program from the pages of Kitchen Klatter. Mrs. Harper gave a reading and some songs were sung with Mrs. Mowman presiding at the piano.

During the business meeting over which Mrs. Harper presided she was reelected president, Mrs. Harold Heiss was chosen vice president and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Braddock voted as secretary and treasurer.

The group voted to send $25 toward the Gerald Sommers Memorial school at Sarawak, Borneo.

Those members who were interested pledged their support to the MOOR in Korea on a dollar a month basis. This has been their special project for several years.

An informal session of visiting concluded the evening.

Mrs. Russell Is Honored at Meet

PAGE—Mrs. J. R. Russell was honored with the "Happy Birthday" song at the close of the afternoon Tuesday, November 25, when she was hostess to the members of the Page Extension club. A birthday cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Dan Troshynski which was served with ice cream and coffee.

Mrs. Edgar Stauffer and Mrs. Raymond Heiss were leaders for the lesson on "Cottage Making." Gift corsages were presented to absentee members, Mrs. Rose Chichester, who is a patient at Our Lady of Lourdes hospital at Norfolk, Mrs. E. H. Farnsworth, a patient at St. Anthony's hospital at O'Neill, and Mrs. R. D. Copes, who is recuperating at home following a hospitalization period at O'Neill.

The Christmas lesson will be given by Mrs. Ruby Prill at the home of Mrs. Elmer Trowbridge, December 16. Roll call will be answered by naming "A Christmas wish."

Dinner was served at noon.

Guests were Mesdames William Buxton, George Clasey, Burl Baty and N. D. Ickes, sr.

Other Page News Mr. and Mrs. Roy Park were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lydon, near Deloit, Thanksgiving.

Becomes Manager

350-Pound Calf Killed by Hunter

A 350-pound calf was shot Thanksgiving morn at the pasture on the Gilbert Wragge ranch near Ewing.

Holt County Sheriff Leo Tomjack said "so-called eager-beaver hunter" had slain the whiteface calf valued at about one-hundred-dollars.

"That sort of carelessness makes farmers and ranchers pretty mad," Tomjack said. He added that his office had received numerous complaints concerning young boys hunting rabbits and showing little regard for ranchers' livestock.
