Pioneer Days Theme of Sunset Banquet

EWING—The 35th annual sunset banquet in which the oldest persons in the community are honored, is now history. The affair was held Thursday evening, September 15. Pioneer days was the theme of this year's banquet, sponsored as usual by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church. Table decorations included a miniature covered wagon, stage coach, spinning wheel, buggy, two small "pot-bellied" heating stoves and many bouquets of flowers, which added a riot of color. James H. Gunter, 83, who was born in the Ewing vicinity, carried away the honors for being the oldest person present. Mrs. Will Conner, 76, claimed the longest record of residence among the ladies. She came to the community with her parents when she was three-months-old. Both Mr. Gunter and Mrs. Conner were presented a gift. Others who have made Ewing their home for many years, and honored were: M. H. Dierks, 83 on July 10 (he came with his parents to Ewing when three-years-old); Herman Zeims and Dewitt Gunter, who also have spent practically a lifetime here; Mrs. Jessie Angus, 73, who was born here; Mrs. William Boies, 56 years here, and Mrs. Hannah Tuttle, 55 years here. Many changes have been made in the community during the years of these pioneer citizens. Dinner was served at 6 o'clock. The menu included chicken and dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy, Harvard beets, lime salad, hot rolls, jelly, pickles, rainbow sherbet, wafers, coffee and tea. The welcome was given by Mrs. William Spence followed by the blessing given by Rev. Lee Bridgen, master-of-ceremonies. The evening's program: Duets, "Sweater As the Years Go By" and "Six Threads Among the Gold," by Ed Hoag and Mrs. Hazel Kimes, 80; A. A. Alden and Mrs. Harriet Welke sang "Beautiful Ohio" and "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You." Mrs. Sam Borden was the accompanist. Films of vacation trips, which featured Hawaii, Florida and other places of interest in the United States, were shown by Mrs. Sis Ebbengaard. The popular Musical Musket- eers, all members of the Sunset club, were heard. They also drew Olson, auto-harp, harmonica and accordion; Dewitt Gunter, violin, and Ed Hoag, guitar. They played several numbers with Mr. Hoag doing some vocal solo parts. The benediction was given by Reverend Bridgen.
