

Prayers Offered for American Indians

EWING—“By Faith We Will Walk the Christian Road” was the theme of the lesson presented by Mrs. Willie Shrader on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lionel Gunter when the Presbyterian church met in regular session.

Scripture reading for the devotional period was read from Hebrews 11: 17-20 and Genesis 28: 18, followed by prayer and hymns.

Topics reviewed, pertaining to the American Indians were “Long, Long Ago”, “The Tribes of Tears” and “Looking Backward at the Work of the United Presbyterian Church”.

Mrs. Archie Johnston conducted the prayer cycle. Prayers were offered for the North American Indians at Warm Springs and Sinnasbo, Ore.; Tama, Ia.; Stillwell and Millerton, Okla.; and Oljato Mission in Utah.

The society sent clothes to Franchburg, Ky., and Oljato Indians at Rayena, Ariz.

It was announced that Mr. Ross, a retired missionary from Pakistan, preaching at Olathe, Colo., would conduct services at the United Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, October 26.

Mrs. Elwell Johnston was a guest. The meeting adjourned with the Lord's prayer said in unison. Mrs. Wilbur Bennett assisted the hostess, Mrs. Gunter.

FEMINE is the last word in fashion this year. Everything is softer. Fabrics, furs, feathers—everything has a deliciously soft, ladylike look. You're in fashion this season when you're a "lady to your fingertips!" That means, of course, your hands must be soft, smooth, and beautifully groomed—even if you have very dry skin that persists in keeping an old-fashioned, rough look! What to do? Treat them to a jar of new Softskin Moisture-Magic Hand Cream! You'll find this special moisture cream melts away that dried-out feeling, brings back a soft, smooth look in almost no time. (It works so quickly on very dry skin because it contains Colestron, to give you the extra moisture your type of skin needs.) Moisture does the trick—not grease—so there's never any oily film to rub off on a new velvet dress!

Fire District Plan to Be Discussed

CHAMBERS—Lloyd W. Wintermute, assistant chief of the Chambers volunteer fire department, this week said the department would like to form a rural fire district to better protect farmers and ranchers in the Chambers area and their property.

The men of the department recently completed a special training school. They would now like to buy a new truck for use particularly in the rural areas, Wintermute explained.
“With the cooperation of everyone concerned these ideas will become realities,” he added. “Everyone interested in forming such a rural fire district is invited to attend a special meeting to be held on Monday, November 14, at 8 p.m., at the fire house.”
