New Picture-Book Shows How To Paint

Week-End Decorators find painting easy with new book.

Millions of Americans have become Week-End Decorators because they've found that painting and decorating their own home can be easy and fun. Helping to make their painting projects more profitable and enjoyable is the Week-End Decorator's Handbook, adapted from the famous best-seller, the "Handyman's Book," published by Better Homes and Gardens Magazine. Chuck-full of painting hints and step-by-step pictures, the 68-page Week-End Decorator's Handbook is the most useful book on painting available to the home decorator. Written in easy-to-understand style and illustrated with more than 225 pictures, the handbook includes complete instruction on how to do indoor painting, how to paint a door, how to remove old paint and varnish, how to select and care for brushes, how to roll on paint and many, many more helpful suggestions.

Methodist Church Receives Members

EWING—Baptismal services were conducted Easter by Rev. Charles Mitchell of the Methodist church for Marie Elaine Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Davis.

The Davises and Mrs. Dewitt Hoke became members of the church by letter. Mrs. Mabel Boies and Miss Janell Hoke became members by confession of faith.

Two special numbers were presented by the primary department during the Sunday-school hour.

Last Thursday a candlelight communion service was conducted by Reverend Mitchell.
