By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Greetings to all and sundry! Got your glad plants yet? It's that time of year. I got a lot of new ones this year, and we are so anxious to see them bloom.

I know all you glad lovers like to know the names of new varieties, so I'll tell you some of those we are planting that are new to us. Five opal was a gift to me. We ordered A. L. Stephen, aureole, Betty Duncan, Boise belle, boldface, C. D. Fortnam, Burma, carnival, Ciro, Connecticut Yankee, cream orchids, crown jewel, dark David, Dieppe, Dolly Varden, Elmer's rose, Evangeline, Florence Nightingale, friendship, Gene-tinger, gorgeous deb, King Alfred, King David, Ladrona, Lady Anne, lavender lace, leading light, Manchu, Mother Fischer, Nacia, Nila, Nowetta Rose, October sunshine, Flourence, pink chiffon, poinsettia, red wing, Rosario, rose charm, sandman, southern belle, sparks, spic and span, stormy weather, sundance, sweet sixteen, Tarawa, the rajah, Tivoli, velvet mantle, wedgwood, white goddess, Corona, corsage, fuschia maid, early red, Harold K, hiho and Gwen. I would like to have Cardinal Spellman, but it wasn't listed in any of my glad catalogs. Be sure to plant your glad where they'll get lots of sun and won't have wet feet. And plant them deep enough so they won't fall over. Large bulbs, four to six inches deep; medium ones, three to four inches deep, and small bulbs, two to three inches deep. If some variety is supposed to grow to be very tall, plant it deeper so the stalk won't become top heavy.

Dear Mrs. Pease:

Before the enchanting days of spring demand too much of my attention out of doors, I will chat with you and your readers via letter.

We have moved to a new locality and, to my delight, we have a lovely yard. This surely isn't always a joy that goes with a different farm. We find ourselves exploring the yard with as much enthusiasm as our two youngsters do in roaming the playground of its former occupants.

We have many lilacs, rose bushes, iris and tulips. It's like a dream coming true as we worked four years to try to achieve such results at our former home where the flowers this spring should bring forth joy to its new occupants, too.

When we moved here in February we felt truly like strangers. That feeling didn't last long as we have some of the grandest neighbors. They were not strangers, they were just new friends. It's not uncommon to have farewell parties for families but we were given a welcome party by a church group with which we are not affiliated. It was indeed heart warming as well as home warming. The kindness of all these people surely makes us feel welcome and happy to be their neighbors. So I hope that anyone who has a new neighbor has taken off a short while from their daily chores and dropped by to welcome them.

We often become too involved in our own problems and forget "to love thy neighbor."

Isn't it true there is no greater happiness than giving cheer to others?

As this is wash day, something very quick for dessert is usually in order. Perhaps you'd like to try this sour cream cake and top it with whipped cream. We can stand an added calorie on wash day, can't we?

SOUR CREAM CAKE

One egg and enough cream to fill cup, one cup brown sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Blend egg, cream, sugar and vanilla. Sift together remaining ingredients and stir until smooth. Bake in a 350 F. oven about 15 minutes in an eight by five-inch pan.

Some time I'd like to explore your yard, Mrs. Pease. It sounds so interesting. Of course, we won't mention seeing the new house!

As you can see, at writing I'm still
