Chambers, Stuart Bands Scheduled

Band concerts at 1 o'clock and 7 o'clock on both Wednesday and Thursday, August 18 and 19, have been scheduled by Holt county fair officials.

The Chambers band will provide music on Wednesday; the Stuart band on Thursday.

Besides the two concerts scheduled daily, each musical organization may be called upon intermittently throughout the afternoon to provide entertainment.

Kirk Fox, editor of Successful Farming magazine, says: "I believe that increased funds should be provided each year until all the 5,000 schools not now offering vocational agriculture courses can do so. The value of such training has been demonstrated. Future needs must increase."

Vet Announcer to Be at 'Mike'

Joe Cavanaugh, native of the Chambers locality, once more has signed to return to the Holt county fair and do the public address announcing in connection with this year's two-day rodeo.

Joe will be taking time out from his busy rodeo season to stop off for the Chambers show.

This summer Joe has been working with a national rodeo producing firm, which boasts more RCA-approved rodeos in the nation this year than any other producer.

Already Joe's voice has kept the crowds informed on rodeo progress at many midwestern points.

Joe's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Cavanaugh.

Incidentally, Joe became a father on Friday, July 9, when he and his wife, the former Kathleen O'Flynn of Omaha, announced the arrival of Shamus Michael Cavanaugh, weighing 6 pounds 6 ounces.

Shamus, Joe explains, is Irish Gaelic for James.

Keen Competition Promised by Teams

Baseball games will feature the entertainment during the afternoon on both Wednesday and Thursday, August 18 and 19, at the Holt county fair.

Atkinson and Chambers will do battle on Wednesday.

Orchard will tangle with Chambers on the following day—Thursday.

Both games are scheduled to start at 2:30 p.m., and best seats, of course, will be in the grandstand. Bleacher seats also will be very good vantage points for the grandest of all sports—baseball.

Band concerts at 1 o'clock and 7 o'clock on both Wednesday and Thursday, August 18 and 19, have been scheduled by Holt county fair officials.
