The conference is the first of its kind to be held since all Nebraska associations became completely member-owned last year.

Light Balloting in Holt County

chose with 46 votes. Darel Bright and Harry L. Moore tied for second, with 29 votes each, and Bob Tomlinson of Star collected 14. In the third district, Clarence Ernst handily won over two opponents in the GOP supervisor nomination race. Ernst counted 172 votes; Henry Winkler, 44; Francis Wabs, 39. John Sullivan, a veteran on the Holt county democratic scene, accumulated 91 votes to win the nomination on his slate; Albert Sterns, incumbent, received 76.

The four-way contest for the GOP nomination for supervisor in the fifth district went to Kenneth Barthel with 102 votes. Leslie Lieswald had 86; Fred D. Smith, 85; Lloyd A. Hoerle, 18. Unopposed on the demo ballot was Edwin Wink with 50.

Alex Frickel of Atkinson defeated Floyd Butterfield, also of Atkinson, for the republican nomination for supervisor, Seventh district, 184-105. On the opposite side of the battle, Gloor won over D. T. Withers, 75-64.

County School Supt. Alice French of O'Neill was accorded a whopping 1,980 votes—the greatest single "pull" on the ballot.

An unofficial count showed 1,371 republican ballots cast; 765 democratic. This means a grand total of 2,136, which is considered light.

Commissioner Races Draw Interest

BASSETT—Rock county republican voters Tuesday gave Gov. Robert Crosby a slight edge over Congressman Carl Curtis in the long-term senate race, 179 votes compared to 174. Curtis, however, was declared the winner on the state level.

Voting in Rock, according to the county clerk, was light—just as it was over most of the state. Rock republicans gave Victor A. Anderson 202 votes compared to 130 for Frederick Wagener.

There was a race for nomination for Rock county commissioner, First district, GOP ticket, Frank Schubert with 90 votes bested Bert Kreitman with 73 and Clifford Robinson with 72.

Another race drawing interest was the two-way bid for the GOP nomination for commissioner, Second district, with Carl Sporing winning 128 votes; M. H. Memer, 117.

George Ruder defeated Mick Bair, 264-196, for the republican nomination for sheriff.

All returns were in by 2 a.m.

MUCH NEWS OMITTED
Because of the volume of election news appearing in this issue considerable other news-matter necessarily has been omitted or appears in abbreviated form. Because of the complicated ballot, relatively light voting and shortage of space, the customary abstract of the voting in Holt county has been waived.

Cattle Runs Turning Upward

At the weekly sale today at the O'Neill Livestock Market there will be around 300 head of mixed consignments of yearlings and calves and a number of cows. Two hundred feeder pigs are expected for the sale. If possible, the pig sale will begin at 11 o'clock.

More cattle are coming in all the time and it promises to be a good sale. For those with feeder cattle there has been a great deal of inquiry recently regarding feeder cattle.
