Marvel Jean Johnson, James A. Batenhorst in Church Nuptials

STUART—Marvel Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson of Stuart, and James A. Batenhorst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Batenhorst of Stuart, were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, September 4, at St. Boniface Catholic church. Rev. A. J. Paschang officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a waltz-length gown of chantilly type lace and nylon tulle over satin in monastory white. The molded bodice featured a bateau neckline accented with flutter applique of French imported Venice lace medallions and long tapered sleeves which came to a point over the wrists.

The full, billowy skirt of nylon tulle over satin was accented with "V" inserts of lace. A Juliet cap of pleated illusion trimmed with seed pearls held the double elbow-length veil of French imported pure silk illusion. Her only jewelry was a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet was a white orchid with stephanotis. The bride also carried out the tradition of something old, something new.

Mrs. Harold Dobrovoly, close friend of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and Miss Maureen Batenhorst, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Their dresses were identical in color and style and were lilac color, fashioned of nylon lace and tulle over taffeta. They featured a strapless bodice with a lace bolero and full skirt accented with yokes of lace. Both attendants carried colonial bouquets of white carnations.

Harold Dobrovoly, friend of the bridegroom, served as bestman, and Richard Bednar, a friend of the bridegroom, served as groomsman. Mike Batenhorst, brother of the bridegroom, and Don Myers, a friend, ushered. The men wore business suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue crepe dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations.
