

Save by Baking Own Bread

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE, Homemaking Editor

Most of us are always looking for ways to save money. And yet many are not willing to put forth the effort for the extra savings.

For instance, you can save money by baking your own bread. I know that many, many women still bake bread but many others do not and that's the truth.

And when you bake your own bread, it usually pays to buy at least a 25-pound sack of flour and, if your family has any size to it, a 50-pound sack is the economical size. The same is true of sugar. Watch for the bargains when sugar is on sale, or try to buy it in 100-pound sacks and you'll save money.

Bacon squares are usually cheaper than the fancy sliced cuts of bacon, and you can have them sliced at your grocers, if you prefer them sliced. Bacon squares or bacon ends are fine for using for seasoning, too, you know.

And, of course, bacon drippings should never be thrown away. They can be used most of the places where you ordinarily use lard.

Every week O'Neill merchants offer you good buys in non-perishable foods. Do you take advantage of these buys? Most of the specials offered by grocers in their ads are real bargains, although not always. Learn to know the regular price of these staple items and then you'll quickly realize when some good buys are offered. Stock up when these items are on sale and your saving will be considerable.

When you buy soaps, soap flakes and such, be sure to compare the giant size box with the price of a smaller box. Compare the weight so that you see how much more you get in the giant box.

Usually if you buy a giant box, you get enough more soap for the money spent to give you a small size box weight free. This is not always true, but in many cases it is.

Where items are bought in bulk and are not perishable, this is often true, too, so check up on these things and find out if you are passing by some ways to save your money when grocery buying. Because it does seem to be true that living costs keep going up.

You will also save money if you make your own pie and biscuit mix, cake mixes, cookie mixes and such. Not what the mixes aren't very fine, because they are and they save you time and labor. But if pennies are very important you can save them by doing these things yourself.

'Cornball' Wins Subscription

Dear Blanche: First, I must tell you how I marvel at your ability to write articles for The Frontier each week. I've been going to write a letter to you all winter and somehow I never do.

Winter is quickly slipping away from us, and before we know it spring will be here. Now is a wonderful time to catch up on one's sewing, if that's possible. Having four children, two of them girls, I have quite a lot of sewing to do. I try to spend a little time each day sewing and in that way keep up very well.

The catalogs of all descriptions have nearly all been sent out, or maybe I should call them wish books, 'cause gee, doesn't one do a lot of wishing as he looks through the colorful pages of a catalog?

Seed catalogs fascinate me, also. But, unlike you, Blanche, mine is mostly wishful thinking as my flower garden never materializes. At present I'm too busy raising my four flowers, two of whom are in school now. But maybe some day—

I am enclosing a recipe which I made myself. It is very simple but really good.

PEACH-TAPIoca PUDDING
One quart peaches, 1/3 cup tapioca, one cup cream, 2/3 cup sugar. Drain juice from peaches. Combine juice and tapioca and cook until thick and tapioca is well dissolved. Cool. Whip cream and add sugar, vanilla and mashed peaches. Combine with cooked mixture. Chill before serving.

212 Club Admits 4 New Members

Four new members joined the 212 South Fork 4-H club at the monthly meeting at William Ermer's on Friday night. Voted in to the club were Madeline Cook, Pat McConnell, Deborah Eisenhauer, and Dennis Cook.

Jeanene Backhaus, president, conducted the business meeting for the senior group and distributed project material for the year's work.

Darold Ermer was chairman for the junior meeting and Madeline Cook served as secretary.

The two groups joined in a recreation hour led by Marlene Ermer and Gale Holcomb.

The year book committee will meet at the Roy Backhaus home Friday, March 18, to plan the year's work.

During 4-H club week, the 212 club had a window display in a Chambers store, picturing the goals of 4-H. Jeanene and Kenneth Backhaus, Marlene Ermer, and Gary and Gale Holcomb arranged the window.—By Gale Holcomb, assistant reporter.

National High School Rodeo at Harrison

Plans are well under way for the 1955 national high school rodeo, which will be held at Harrison July 21-23. The rodeo, the only event of its kind in the United States, is sponsored by the Harrison post 7970, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

In undertaking the sponsorship of this national event, the Harrison VFW is asking every registered brand owner in Nebraska to support it.

According to J. W. ("Pat") O'Meara, the high school rodeo is "the best method of keeping alive the traditions of the Old West." He asks every interested person to give their support to this worthwhile venture. In this connection, the Harrison VFW is contacting all brand owners in Nebraska.

St. Patrick's Day Deserves An 'Old Country' Celebration

Let's make this St. Patrick's Day as gay as our most delightful Irish friend. Whether shared with guests or enjoyed within the usual family group, this merry day calls for a real celebration. Decorate your table with fanciful clay pipes, which the children will use later for bubble blowing. For an added fillip, use cut-outs of shamrock design.

For one platter of refreshments serve homemade cookies. Your family will especially relish the rich chocolate cookies made with Pream, the instant powdered cream that is fast becoming a favorite in modern kitchens. These cookies are one of the many recipes to which it seems to give added richness and flavor.

Rich Chocolate Cookies
3 tablespoons instant powdered cream 1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar 1 egg
2 eggs 2 cups water
1 1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder 4 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1/4 teaspoon baking soda 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt

Sift instant powdered cream, flour, baking powder, soda, and salt together. Add shortening, sugar, eggs and water. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Stir in melted chocolate and vanilla.

Drop by teaspoons 2-inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375° F.) about 10 to 12 minutes or until firm to touch. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

Frost cookies with chocolate icing made by mixing 6 tablespoons instant powdered cream with 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar. Add 3 to 4 tablespoons hot water and two 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, and one tablespoon butter. Top each cookie with half walnut.
