Letters to Editor Burial at Niobrara for Mrs. G. B. Ira

Editor: The following poem we'd like to have you publish in memory of our son, Army Cpl. Lyle C. McKim, who died January 8 in Korea and was buried at O'Neill this week.

SO LONG, SON
"So long, Son"—we said, with a smile;
"We'll see you again in a little while."
But the smile was hiding a heart of tears
And the bitter pain of a thousand fears.

Our own little boy! So eager to fight
For the ideals of Freedom, Justice and Right,
Had something of God in his face
That day
As he said to us, in his own quiet way:

"This war may be long, and cost many men;
And of course I may, before we shall win,
Be a part of the price of our victory;
If so, don't you worry—it's OK by me.
The wonderful life that we have known
Would be no more, with our freedom gone.
Now chin up, Mother; and so long, Dad—
You're the grandest folks a guy ever had."

"So long, Son"—we say when we write,
And all our letters are cheery and bright;
But our heart in this line goes out the foam:
"Take care of yourself and hurry back home."
Please, if he's called, that price to pay;
Help us, Dear Lord, in our hearts to say:
"So long, Son"—with an uplifted smile;
"We'll see you again, in a little while."

Gentlemen: I would like to find out from you, if possible, who was kind enough to send me a copy of your "1953 Blizzard Issue, condensed from our 12-page February 26 issue." I was quite pleasantly surprised to receive it, and enjoyed reading it. Thanking you again in advance,
I remain,

Cattle Jailed on Huge Run—Exceptionally large cattle runs at Omaha and Chicago Monday—36,000 head at the two points and the bulk of that total slaughter steers, yearlings and heifers— took the starch out of trade. The fat cattle market at Omaha was unevenly steady to mostly 25-50 cents lower, instances off more, and late in the trading session clearance was incomplete.

Most sales of slaughter steers and yearlings ranged from $19 to $22.50, with better steers to $22.50, 1400-pounders to $23.25. Best heifers were a part load of 935-pounders at $22.25. Plain killers sold down to $16. Scattered early sales of cows were strong but bulk looked steady to 25 cents lower, canners and cutters $2.82-3.50, beef cows to $15. Bologna bulls sold to $17.50, odd head $18.50, beef bulls to $15.50, "semi's" to $16.50, and veal calves to $26.

Stocker and feeder trade was unevenly steady to 50 cents lower. Feeder steers ranged from $17-$22, there were stock steers to $23.50, and steer calves to $24.50 and $25.50, heifer calves to $22.50.

Butcher hogs sold steady to 25 cents lower, to 35 cents off, 180 - 360-pounders $18.25-$21.25. Sows sold steady, 300-550-pounders $17.50-$19.50. Stags brought $14.50 to $17.

A sheep run of 11,800 Monday provided the margin that gave Omaha top rank in total livestock supply, and at the same time the big sheep run fared well. Fat lambs sold 50 cents higher, hitting top to a 4-month high of $23.75, and there were few under $23.
