Bulky Blankets Are No Problem

ECONOMIZE on the spring cleaning bill by washing your woolen blankets before you put them away for the summer. That's the advice of Eleanor Lee Jones, home laundry specialist. Using this automatic washer, she cites the following method:
 Place blanket in washer, spreading it evenly around the three rubber fins of the agitator. Next, add correct amount of mild soap flakes and water conditioner or mild synthetic detergent. Set temperature control at "warm," operating control at "rinsing" cycle. Allow tub to fill, and let blanket soak 15 minutes. Start overflow rinse. Add more water conditioner after rinse has taken most of suds away. Turn control to final spin cycle. Remove blanket and carefully stretch as nearly as possible to original dimensions; after drying, brush with stiff nylon brush. Result, says Miss Jones, is a fluffier blanket without chemical odors, with shrinkage held to a minimum.

BASTIAN IS CRITIC AT SPRINGVIEW FESTIVAL
 James Bastian, director of vocal music in the O'Neill public schools, Friday attended the Keya Paha county grade music festival at Springview. In addition to directing a massed chorus of 170 boys and girls, representing every school district in the county, Mr. Bastian also served as music critic for special events entered in the festival.
 Among the special events entered were piano and vocal solos, small vocal groups, grade school choruses, rhythm bands and the Springview beginners' and intermediate band. Mr. Bastian listened to these groups perform and wrote criticisms for them.
 The massed chorus sang five numbers which had been learned by chorus members prior to the festival. These included "Old Black Joe," "Oh Susanna," "Stars of the Summer Night," "Home Sweet Home" and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."
 All schools which participated in the festival will receive a music certificate from the office of the state superintendent of public instruction.
