

The Frontier Woman How About Pop and Kids Getting Dinner, Doing Dishes for Mother on Her Day?

Mother's day is next Sunday. I think it would be very nice if pop would take her out to dinner. And, if that is out of the question, how about the kids getting the meal with pop lending a helping hand? And that includes doing the dishes afterward!

Then mom will feel like it was really mother's day, instead of a day when she had to get a big meal and wash a pile of dishes afterward. Make it a holiday for apron strings!

If the children are big enough—here's an idea: Make a regulation coffee cake for breakfast, but use this honey crisp topping to make it special!

Cream together three tablespoons softened butter (or margarine) and 1/3 cup honey until light and fluffy. Add 1/2 cup shredded coconut, 1/2 cup crushed corn flakes and 1/4 cup drained, crushed pineapple and mix thoroughly. Spread on coffee cake batter. Make topping for one coffee cake.

If daughters or sons have a May luncheon for their mothers, as they sometimes do, they may want to serve a fruit plate and dainty finger sandwiches. Use any of the fresh fruits that are now on the market combined with those on your pantry shelf. Arrange a bed of frilly lettuce or curly endive on the luncheon

We're Putting 144,950 New Horsepower To Work!

One hundred and one new diesel locomotives, totaling 144,950 horsepower will soon see service along our line and in our yards.

This 16 million dollar addition to our motive power fleet is an important move in our program of progressive railroading, for its effect will be felt throughout the communities in the 9500 miles we serve. It is no secret that modern diesel power moves people and goods faster, safer and more efficiently, thereby improving the basic service that railroads have always provided—that of bringing people, products and markets together.

Modern motive power alone does not make a great railroad, but add to this the many improvements being made daily to our rolling stock, roadbed, terminal and yard facilities, coupled with the efforts of 35,000 trained employees and you come up with a railroad geared for safe, high-speed mass transportation.

Such is the service we sell in nine great midwestern states backed up with 105 years of railroading experience.

were about an inch high, they froze. The I replanted and my school room windows have an individual potted carnation for each pupil's mother for mother's day.

Each pot will be covered with foil with a bright colored ribbon tied around each one. We have mother's day cards ready to be colored (red carnations) and each child shall in his very best script, print a favorite verse, the author's name I do not remember, but it reads:

I wish that I might Always be,
All that my mother
Wished for me.

It is to be kept a secret (we hope) until mother's day. The children can hardly wait and if the day would only arrive sooner!

Our tomato plants are about four inches high and they will soon have to be transplanted outdoors.

We have had rice, cotton and date plants in our room. We have had no success with the cocoa seed. Our cactus are almost two feet high. The dahlia is coming right along, too.

When a member of the family of one of our students or a friend is ill, we send them a card signed by each pupil, and now they do not hesitate to immediately mention when a friend or member of the family is so.

So far this spring, we have had only a few warm days. Although we do hope spring is just around the corner.

All Quiet After Siege of Flu—
Dear Frontier Woman:
It's been ages since I wrote to you. I'm sure you haven't missed me, but I sure miss The Frontier and your column. All is quiet and peaceful after over a week of the flu. Youngsters back in school and 4-year-old cutting pictures.

After seeing four people sick at once, temperatures raging, I pause to think how thankful we can be for our everyday hubbub.

I feel sorry for the persons who can't be happy in their everyday grind, who keep looking at the pleasures and moments of other people and begrudging themselves and their families the full happy days they should be enjoying.

Oh, we all have an off day now and then, but there is so much to live for. Children are a challenge, we can learn a lot from them. When I send my 6-year-old to the kitchen to wash dishes, he says, "Sure I'll wash dishes, but I aim to have my fun." And he does. Maybe it takes him half an hour but I sit quietly and crochet, or write a letter. With six brothers and sisters away from home, it does take quite a lot of letters.

Dishes finished, 6-year-old is Roy Rogers again, I'm shot in the hip, I must limp—a mean limp—while I brush up the floor.

Big sister dotes on making cup cakes. She is 8 now, and anxious to get at the sewing machine. I have cut some quilt patches for her. She loves to embroider when she isn't climbing a tree or the barn, that is.

Dad comes in hunting a maplestick and a 6-year-old to drive the tractor for him. He can do a good job, too. It takes time and patience and watchfulness and a few stern corrections, to teach children, but they are happy in doing things and proud of their accomplishments.

I have to make a couple phone calls. It's so nice to have some one remember you, and so easy to put it off.

Just finished putting some fresh pork from the locker in a pan of smoked salt brine. Ever try it? Gives it that cured flavor and is easily done.

Got company—see you later.

Recipe of the Week—
CHERRY COOKIES
This is a quick mix drop cookie that even the youngsters can make and bake. Sift together two cups sifted enriched flour, 1/2 teaspoon soda and one teaspoon salt. Add one cup brown sugar, 3/4 cup new type shortening and one egg. Mix one teaspoon vanilla extract with two tablespoons milk and add to the flour mixture. Stir to combine ingredients then beat two minutes. Stir in 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 1/2 cup candied cherries or maraschino cherries and 1/2 cup coconut. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven of 375 F. for 10 to 15 minutes. Makes about 4 1/2 dozen 2-inch cookies.

I see where some guy is suing his wife for a divorce because he says she kisses him only when she wants money. Gosh, I bet she smothered the poor guy.

- Kilowatt-hour sales reflected the increase in number of customers as well as the increased use by all classes of customers and set a new record of 365,491,548 for 1952 as compared with 335,256,426 for 1951.
- Average annual kilowatt-hour use per residential customer increased to 2,094 kwh from 1,973 kwh for 1951. Average annual kilowatt-hour use per rural customer increased from 3,742 in 1951 to a new high of 4,121 kwh for 1952. The average revenue per kilowatt-hour remained at the 1951 level of 2.84c.
