The young people's rally held Sunday at the church was well attended with about 160 young people and adults in attendance at the supper. Meeting of Presbytery and the training sessions were held in the Methodist church because of our lack of room for all the meetings.

Mrs. Ellery Smith, returned missionary from China, spoke to the youth of the impact of the church upon China.

Our junior high fellowship presented an historical play based on the life of Samuel Worcester, an early missionary to the Cherokee Indians of Georgia.

At the close of the meeting the newly-elected officers of the Presbytery fellowship were installed by Rev. Robert Buzza, director of Christian education in the synod of Nebraska. Two members of our church were elected to offices in the Presbytery organization—Janice Holsclaw was elected vice-moderator, and David Lee was elected treasurer.

On Monday, Mrs. Smith gave an inspirational address to the women of the Women's association at the church at 2:30 p.m. She spoke again briefly to the Men's council in the evening, telling of the tremendous good done by special gifts and offerings sent to the work in China during the war years. She emphasized the stability of the Chinese people, and stated that they are held in communist control only because of their present poverty and the lack of the machines of war.

In summarizing the situation in China today, she pointed out the fact that though the security of owning land, the security of the ancient custom of the sons caring for the parents, and the security of money were all long since gone because of war. There yet remained the greater security of the Spirit, which could not be destroyed.

"The one thing that America has in China today," she stated, "is that which the Christian church has brought them, Christianity. That is the most feared enemy of communism."

Rev. Robert Buzza spoke to the Men's council on the organization and responsibilities of the boards of the church at the dinner meeting.

The teachers and officers of the Sunday-school will meet on Monday evening at 7:30.

Hairless Calf Finds Living Rough

About three weeks ago a curious little calf was born at the Glen White ranch near Amelia, along with about a hundred others. However, this fellow (above) was very different from all the other little calves because he had no hair except for a little fringe around his shoulders. His skin is as tender and pink as a baby's and he has already injured himself in several places in this business of living. Mr. White says he must keep the calf in the barn all of the time as in cold weather he suffers from the cold and in the sunshine his soft pink skin sunburns badly. Mr. White has been a rancher for many years and this is the first hairless calf that he has ever seen. He is hoping to find someone who would be interested in having the calf for observation or experimental purposes.—The Frontier Photo by Elwood J. Brady.

Plans Tour—The Fancy Ropers met Sunday, April 19, at the Jim Bridge home. Projects were decided upon and material was handed out. We received our achievement awards. Twenty members and six visitors were present. After the meeting lunch was served.

Rose Mary Corlke attended the Nebraska state show and sale at Columbus March 26. She showed her heifer in sixth place in the futurity show. Rose Mary, a student of St. Mary's, won second place in the citizenship contest sponsored by the American Legion.

Alfred Meyer, Russell Miner and I rode with Mr. Dawes to Sioux City where we attended the tri-state 4-H meeting on March 26. We were shown through the Swift and Co. packing house. We saw the skinning and butchering done. We watched weiners being made.

From there we went to the smoking vaults where they smoke hams.

We watched bacon being sliced and wrapped and then we went through the cold storage rooms where beef and pork halves are bruise damaged. One beef half had chilled. We saw the results of the whole side cut away.

At noon we ate dinner in Sioux City's new auditorium. Afterwards a film was shown, a demonstration was given, and Don Cunningham gave a short speech.

After the program we were shown through the auditorium. We had a very interesting day and all enjoyed it. Alfred Meyer attended the tri-state FFA convention in Sioux City April 8 and was high ranking individual.

Next meeting will be May 17 at the E. L. Miner home.—By Richard Bridge, news reporter.
