Bee Business Is Booming Here

Last year the Bellin's packed about seven tons of honey. Sometimes swarms are rented to farmers on a share-the-honey proposition.

When the bees have the swarming fever, they can emerge from the hives at the rate of tens of thousands per minute. Domestic bees will travel in a swarm about three miles. Wild bees tend to have a longer range.

Business on Monday night's program included the appointment of a nominating committee to report to the next meeting. Carroll W. Stewart was named chairman of the committee with members including J. B. Grady, R. V. Lucas, John C. Watson, James W. Rooney, Herbert Kaiser, Neal Ryan, Harry Petersen and J. Leo Moore.
