Nifty Boots Now Shown, McDonald's

You could step high, wide and handsome in this pair (see photo above) of boots, and there would be no question of your home state, for these regulation cowboy boots carry the name and replicas of official insignia of the state of Nebraska and are now on display at the J. M. McDonald Co. store here.

In letters and designs carved from leathers that were secured from many parts of the world, the name of this state, and reproductions of the state capitol building, state flag and other official emblems are handsomely and expertly cut and sewn into the pattern of the boots.

McDonald's Manager Joe Stutz says the model boots will be on display here until Thursday, June 4. These boots were made by the world's largest makers of cowboy boots, the Acme Boot company, Clarksville, Tenn. He further stated that the demand for cowboy boots, both for youngsters and adults, is on the increase and has been for the past several years.

Mrs. Nissen, who is pictured with the famous boots, is a member of the Square Dance club—enthusiastic about Western attire.
