

The Frontier Woman 'M. E.' Boosts Paint Roller

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

My goodness, the middle of July! Time to feed the glads again if they're starting to get flower spikes. Do that by making a shallow trench along the side of the row, about four inches from the plants and putting in, or scattering along, half a cupful of balanced plant food for every 10 feet. Cover with about two inches of soil and water down well.

When gathering material, without putting the attachment on the sewing machine, lengthen the stitch a little. Just sew with the machine and pull up one thread on each stitching. It will be still nicer and always stays put.
