

Martin Cites Need for 2-House System State GOP Chairman Talks Here

Dave Martin, state chairman of the Nebraska republican central committee, says a movement is under way supported by republicans and democrats alike for the return of a partisan, two-house legislature for Nebraska. Speaking before a group at the courthouse assembly in O'Neill Wednesday night, November 25, Martin said, "Petitions are now being circulated in the state to get 65,000 signatures for placing on the ballot next year the proposition of a partisan, two-house legislature."

Martin named as one reason for a partisan legislature the lack of responsibility on the part of the present legislators.

"These men are not elected on any platform and do not stand for anything in particular. If elected on a partisan basis, both parties set forth very clearly the platform, and anyone elected to the legislature on a partisan basis, is bound by that platform," he declared.

With regard to the proposed two-house system, Martin added: "In the proposed basis of change in the legislature, we have followed the national government with a senate composed of members elected on a geographic basis and the lower house elected on a population basis. In the senate, outstate counties such as Holt are going to have more representation than ever before."

In conclusion, Martin told the group that an increased membership in a two-house system will help control the lobby influence upon the legislature, with the statement, "When you have a two-house system where both houses have to pass upon legislation, the lobbyists' power of persuasion is going to be curtailed. This is the most important feature of the two-house system," he concluded.

John O'Neill, chairman of the Holt Young Republican club, presided. Only a small handful of young and adult republicans heard Martin's talk.
