Its been many moons since I last greeted you from this corner and I had about given up coming back, but requests have come to me from various directions, including relatives, boys in service and various friends who rely on the home town paper to "keep in touch". It seems yours truly isn't the only one who doesn't keep up with their letter writing. A little note from these nice folks lets your reporter know her work is appreciated. However, this doesn't seem to be the opportune time for a come back, as social activities seem very limited at present. The biggest item is the weather. After the past spring-like month we're blessed with a 10 inch blanket of very wet snow (.73 in of moisture, they say). It started in Saturday but melted as fast as it fell, growing heavier as the temperature dropper, until it really made a good

This is national 4-H club week. While youngsters play the most active part in the club membership, the parents whole-hearted co-operation and support determines the success of the program.

The parents of 4-H members are naturally interested in 4-H club work. It is the greatest voluntary youth movement in the country, and the future of agriculture will be judged by the things his sons and daughters learn in the club program.

From forty to ninety per cent of local leaders themselves are parents, and they make very desirable leaders. A continued increase in enrollment depends on an increasing supply of local leaders plus the whole hearted cooperation of parents.

In what ways, can parents continue to contribute to the success of the program. Encourage your own boys and girls to join and invite your neighbor's children to become members. Your interest and help will make your boys and girls stay 4-H members. Lack of encourage. ment often leads to youngsters dropping out of club work after one or two years.

Father and mother can be liberal with time so that 4-H boys and girls can take good care of their 4-H projects. Remind them too, to help keep records up-todate and complete. Help them find a place to keep their records and booklets. Parents can read the 4-H project circulars to help understand the work.

Parents, too, can help a lot by guiding the project work. Help the youngster but let them do the work themselves. Then when the youngsters win or lose in contests, help them to do so with the right attitude.

Attend club meetings and other 4-H events. See what interesting meetings and programs they have. The 4-H members will be more than pleased to have you. Encourage the club to meet at your home. Help the kids to get to club meetings if the club covers a large area.

Act as a local leader or help get a leader. Support the leader selected. Make your children feel that their 4-H activities and interests are an important part of the family activities. Complijob and encourage them when they lose interest.

All in all, it takes the good will and help of parents to keep enthusiam high. The big help of parents in 4-H club work lies in their approval of the 4-H program: their willingness to provide tools and material with which their sons and daughters work; encouragement; timely advice and attendance at 4-H meetings and activities.

Did you know that wallpaper has been used in Europe for about five centuries. It of course, has been used in this country since early days. It was originally called "poor man's tapestry". It came into use in humble homes as an imitation of expensive textiles used by the wealthy. Wallpaper has no real disadvantages. Sometimes patterns are too profuse or too dull, but this is not the fault of the material. Papers are now available for any kind of furniture, any way of living, any special factor. They range from solid colors through textured effects. Patterns may also be scenic or mural. Most papers have a dull mat finish that may or may not be washable. Glossy, washable papers are also available. Finally, there are the less usual types, which include flock papers that may be small or large. Patterns
