Carol Leidy Weds James R. Budka At Omaha Saturday

LEASE IN THE ASSESSMENT

OMAHA-Miss Carol Leidy of Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph N. Leidy of Bentonville, Ark., formerly of O'Neill, was married to James R. Budka, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Budka of Omaha, Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Benson Presbyterian church at Omaha.

Dr. James Cottrell performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and stock.

A waltz length gown of imported Chantilly lace and taffeta was chosen by the bride. Seed pearls and sequins highlighted the softly rounded neckline of the molded bodice. The sleeves and bouffant skirt featured a scalloped edging. The bridal veil of silk illusion was topped with a queen's crown. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of glamelia and stephanotis.

Miss Marilyn Fetrow was maid of honor and she wore a starched organza gown in white and mint in a bow knot design. The molded bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves, and her bouffant skirt was waltz length. She wore a mint green headband, and carried a bouquet of white

Youths May Now Apply For Sugar Beet Work

Two Nebraska employment offices, Scottsbluff and Ainsworth, are signing up youths, 14 years and older, for sugar beet field work in anticipation of a shortage of Mexican Nationals, the State Division of Employment Security reported last week. Importation of Mexican Nationals for field work will be restricted under Public Law 78, and the state is doing all it can to recurit both local youths and workers from other states. Both offices have begun enlisting school youths who are allowed by law to work in fields at the age of 14 as long as school is not in session. Earl Horton. Scottsbluff office manager, says the boys should be able to earn $5 to $10 a day doing mostly longhandle hoe work. There is very little "stooping" in the work because of a segmented germ seed, he said. The plan is to place the youths in crews of 5 or 6 with adult su-
