Chickens are Smarter ... than they used to be!

Yes! It didn't take the hen-folk long to get a healthy respect for the fast-growing trucking industry. People are smarter, too. They know that today's motor carrier is the fastest, safest, most economical, efficient way to ship freight.

Business depends on trucks. Farmers couldn't get along without trucks. And as far as the individual consumer — you and me — well, everything we eat (including chickens!), everything we wear or use, comes to us by motor transport. There's really nothing like a truck, the servant of all the people.
