

LIKE A MELODY—If, as the song says, "A pretty girl is like a melody", then the Shrine Circus will be a veritable symphony for the eye and ear. Gil Gray has scoured the model agencies and talent offices to secure the most beautiful girls for the 1961 edition of the world's greatest Shrine Circus and with thousands of dollars invested in new and dazzling costumes, the results will speak for themselves. The circus, all new this year, will appear in O'Neill on July 11 with performances at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

A Poem
From Mrs. Eby . . .

—Tempered—
The best steel knife blade is subject to white heat, then cold. Then heated again then beaten till it follows a perfect mold. Then out to the grindstone till it cries enough.
But the cutter is steadily making it tempered and tough.
Stop, to the cutter, the knife blade said.
But again into white heat the blade is fed.
Now keep me off the grindstone, can't more endure,
But it's made to kiss the stone till the cutter feels sure.
Every flaw is removed and the blade bright and pure.
Some souls are heated in affliction 'tis true,
Then plunged into cold tribulation for you.
Then ground it seems on stones of adversity's foes.
But they come out ready for higher service He knows.
Some come for lower service, They can't stand the test,
God would shape them for, but must take second best,
Oh! be still and let God temper and polish you through.
Then you'll be ready for His best service too.
And be prepared for a life of God given might.
Then He'll give you a past that's sure to be right.
(Della Stuart Eby)
