Grand Island Reader Laments That Spring Was So Late This Year

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Hit there, all you hustling folks! Lots to do these days, huh? Homemakers are very busy, I know.

The problem of using leftovers is ever with us—but if we don't use them we are wasting, and most of our budgets can't stand waste. We have to save all the pennies and food we can. If you have some leftover cake or cookies, use them in Brown Betty ice box cake topped with a sweet topping for dessert. If you have a way to use some leftover foods, why not write and tell us about it.

Take leftover bread for instance. Most folks use it for stuffings or in meat loaf, for French toast or in Brown Betty, to coat croquettes or in them, and to coat fried chops. That leftover rice, noodles or spaghetti, or macaroni can often be used in casserole dishes, salads, meats or cheese loaves.

If there is cereal left over from breakfast, the cooked type, you needn't throw it out. Fry in slices, or put it in meat loaf or patties to stretch the meat content, or make a sweet pudding out of it. Most cookbooks offer recipes for using cereals.

If you have some canned or cooked fruit left, it finds an ideal place in upside down cake. It's good in quick breads, too, or yeast breads, or served as fruit cup. Or thickened in fruit sauces, or in a gelatin dessert or salad. And in short-cake—mmmmmm!

If you have left over vegetables such as lima beans, corn, peas, carrots, string beans—you can use them in meat and vegetable pies for savory goodness. Or add them to the soup you have simmering before serving, or try them in stew, or stuffed peppers or stuffed tomatoes, maybe. Or make a cheese sauce to serve over the leftover vegetables to dress them up and give them a new look and flavor.

If you have cooked leafy vegetables left over they can be creamed or made into a soufflé or omelet with eggs or they can even be added to meat patties. Or in meat loaf or soup they can often make a nice combination of flavors and foods.

Subscription Winners—
Mrs. Carrie Brophy, 1408 W. John St., Grand Island, wins a 3-month's subscription to The Frontier.

Dear Mrs. Pease:
As you have been asking for more letters and recipes, here I come. Yes, it is hard to believe but May is over and what a cold spring. Everything has been so far behind all the time. The iris are not as pretty as usual this year, they are so small as to blossoms. The peonies should have been out but are 10 days, 2 weeks or more later than usual. I am afraid they won't be as nice or as large as they should be.

The gardens are nice, though, and strawberries are in full bloom. I have tomatoes in bloom. Well, I will include some recipes:

CHERRY PIE
One and one-half cups all-purpose flour, 1/2 cup lard, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup ice cold milk. For the filling use 3 cups of frozen cherries or fresh cherries, 1 cup granulated sugar, if the cherries are very sour use 1/4 cup sugar more, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup cherry juice, 1 teaspoon butter, 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 4 1/2 tablespoons flour.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS
Two cups cooked beans, navy beans, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 cup boiling water, or the water in which the beans were cooked, one-third pound thin sliced salted pork, 1/4 cup dark syrup, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder. Put beans in baking dish, first a layer of beans and then a layer of salted pork, then beans again and last a layer of salted pork. Bake 2 1/2 hours. Don't take off cover. These will be a real Boston baked bean.

SUGAR COOKIES
Mix thoroughly 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup of sugar, 1 egg. Stir in 1 tablespoon of milk, or cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, or lemon or a combination of both, sifted together. 1 1/4 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, and 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Chill dough, roll thin, cut in any desired shape and place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake until delicately brown. Oven should be 425 degrees F. Bake 5 to 7 minutes. Makes about 3 1/2 to 4 dozen cookies.

I am enclosing some hints also: If you place a slice of bread on half a muskmelon, it won't smell up the refrigerator. Put a slice of bread in with anything that has an odor and it will kill the odor.

A paste of cornstarch and water will remove grease spots from wallpaper. Let it remain on the spots until dry, then brush off.

To reheat biscuits or bread, put in a wet paper bag, tie up tightly and heat in an oven.

Save the keys from coffee cans or other cans. They will come in handy this summer when eating roasting ears. Put one key in each end of the ear of corn, making a handle while eating the corn off the cob.

Send Us a Letter—
The Frontier Woman needs letters. Why not send us a letter? You may write about anything you like. Each week we give two 3-month's subscriptions to The Frontier for the use of letters from readers. However, we have few letters on hand to use. Wouldn't it be awful if The Frontier Woman had to come out without letters?
Send your letters to Mrs. Blanche Pease, The Frontier Woman, Atkinson.

SANDHILL SAL

One of the best ways to be a good in-law—hand out absolute-ly no advice.

Advice is like castor oil: Fairly easy to give but hard to take. Don't name the baby Pansy. She might grow up looking like a Holly Hock.
