Rain, Wet Grounds Thwart Rockets

The weatherman has made himself mighty unpopular in the O'Neill Rockets camp during the past week.

A game was scheduled for Sunday under the lights in Carney park with Johnstown, a league foe. Although the game was not intended to figure in league standings, the wet ground forced postponement. Manager Warren Taylor was obliged to contact Johnstown about noon on Sunday and advise the club not to start out.

A second postponement developed Tuesday night when the Rockets were to have entertained Neligh in Carney park. Showers and wet grounds prevented the 2 clubs getting into action.

Now the Rockets are pointing to a Friday night tiff with Neligh—also set for Carney park. The Rockets will be exhibiting their new uniforms, recently provided by O'Neill business firms. Taylor said the players are very grateful for the new uniforms and the contributions that made them possible.

Atkinson Midgets Triumph 6-5

O'Neill's American Legion-sponsored midget baseball team dropped an overtime thriller, 6-5, to the Atkinson midgets in a twilight game Friday at Carney park.

Second Baseman Ronnie Frickel, peewee Atkinson player, breezed home on a single by Catcher Judge to break the deadlock.
