Women are in banks, stores, offices, shops, libraries, hospitals, and every line of human activity and impart to society a moral and refining influence too little recognized and too little rewarded.

An example of official nonsense is the 4-day deadline for marketing cream. To get top prices for cream you must have it to market within a certain limit. One who knows what he talks about informs me the creamery men laugh about it and really prefer that their customers run over the time limit as thereby the cream costs them less. It all goes into one

GLEA H. WADE

Glea H. Wade, Republican candidate for Holt County Sheriff, will appreciate your support and vote at the Primary Election to be held August 8th.

Wade (as he is familiarly known) has been a resident of Holt County and O'Neill for the past 16 years. He is 42-years-old, married, and the father of a young son and daughter. A veteran of World War II, he served more than three years in the Pacific Theater with the 37th Infantry Division, U. S. Army. He was honorably discharged in December, 1945, after having been wounded in action four times for which he was awarded the Purple Heart with three oak leaf clusters.

Since returning to civilian life he has been active in local civic affairs, serving two years as Commander of Simonson Post 93 of the American Legion at O'Neill. He is at present serving as chairman of the Holt County Chapter of the American Red Cross and was active in Red Cross work during the memorable work of "Operation Snowbound." He served two years as Holt County Chairman of USO Campaigns, served as a member of the District Advisory Committee of the Boy Scouts of America, and is currently serving as a member of the Holt County Selective Service Board.

Wade's friendliness coupled with a tenacious spirit to carry out a program is a combination that will give Holt County a young sheriff that "will get things done."

vat anyway and there is no second grade butter turned out because some cream is classed as second grade. The fellows' milking cows and running the milk through the separator have their time budgeted so they cannot get into cream stations at the behest of an official functionary. The purpose back of the cream marketing arrangement is probably one of those modern day ideals that doesn't work.

There is little mother can do when, with dry eyes and proud spirit though aching heart, she has said goodbye to her son, who has boarded a bus to report for military service, but to turn away to seek a quiet place and cry.

But one thing she can do: it is hers to go to some secluded spot where light spills in radiant splendor from the setting sun and kneel to pray.

The calm of the evening hour invites to a place of solitude where the soul finds succor of sorrow in communion with the Infinite. "A thousand shall fall at thy side and 10 thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come nigh thee"—a promise mother now claims as her son is drawn into the burning hell of battle.

The poll of public sentiment aroused by the Red hunt discloses 41 percent believe the charges brought against certain individuals and 20 percent of those polled don't believe what has been made public. The 41 percent is made up mostly from the GOP group while Democratic patriots in the sum total of 20 percent vote to protect the party line.

The cattle rustler is now a piker. In the hey day of rustling a man on a horse drove off a herd. Now they get one or two, butcher, bury or burn the hide and take the carcass to a cold storage locker. Thus, another good thing has become the avenue to perpetuate a nefarious business. Thieves, like the poor, are always with us. Who steals my purse steals trash, said the greatest of English poets. I don't know that any modern poet has a cow, but if so he might say—Who steals my cow steals a winter's supply of beef.

Dutcher — a name to run a chill up your spine if you got out a generation ago where now Walt O'Malley finds peaceful pasturage for his herds. There is one of that fearsome name down here at Crete but apparently not connected with the Holt county breed. Jim Dutcher will be the football coach at Doane college, one of Nebraska's best institutions of learning.

In 1885 a British gentleman wrote of his impressions of America. "I know of no country," said he, "where there are more examples of beneficence and magnificence than in America. The rich will act nobly out of their abundance and the poor will act nobly out of their penury." So this thing of coming here for the generous handouts got an early start.

Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there is any virtue, if there be any praise, think on these things.—In St. Paul's letter to the Philippians.

Harold Stassen, the Nebraska favorite in the Republican presidential primary, will be the principal speaker when the Republicans meet in convention September 9 in Hastings.

The initial test of pacts and treaties, leagues and agreements formed, signed, sealed and delivered around the nations' council tables at Lake Success has thrown the burden of carrying out the pledge to go to the rescue of "free people" set upon by aggressors clearly on the shoulders of Uncle Sam. Yes, say the overseas national groups, we'll put our signatures to the "scrap of paper," but you do the fighting.

Here is what they think of us over there in North Korea, as exploded by their filed-up prime minister: "Robbers, butchers, vampires, with blood-stained hooves, plunderers, bull-dozers, colonial looters and armed invaders." We can at least admire Kim Ir Sen's vocabulary, wondering the while if he got it as his share of the 10-billion-dollar lend-lease the Reds still owe "Robber Americans."

Mike Sullivan bought car loads of potatoes at 11 cents a bushel that were brought to town from the Bohemian settlement that once constituted a cluster of sod houses in the Dry creek valley. There is on the market today in fancy little paper bags potato chips that sell for a dime a bag, 1 1/2 ounces to the bag, the half-ounce being salt and the rest potato. A bushel thus prepared means $96 retail price.

Lincoln is included in the land allotment that has been having what the late Colonel Doyle would call "gully washers." After a dry period through June and so far in July Jupiter Pluvius has let loose with daily rains. "This ought to make potatoes," said an oldtimer as he hobbled past with his cane. Maybe he has a backlot patch.

All smiles and dimples the bride and bridegroom are pictured by the press on the glad wedding day. After drab years of disillusionment their names may appear in 6-point type among the list of couples in the divorce court reports.

A million a day of federal funds to keep the price of butter and milk at a high level. Increase the take from 10 citizens to bolster up one. Is that one of the "proper functions of government" as "fair dealers" see it?

With a membership of 3,463 scattered over the state of Missouri belonging to a church group, in the past 2 years they have turned in to their church treasury $406,918.75 as tithe, $13,127.93 for missions, besides raising $55,967.90 for other religious promotion.

The state commission has granted the Amelia telephone people their request to adjust the exchange rates to equalize in and out call charges.

Fun Building Float Without Prize—The willing workers 4-H club met at the home of Perry and Larry Dawes on Wednesday, July 26. The lesson was on judging and exhibiting vegetables. A class of potatoes was judged by the members.

We talked over entering our garden float in the O'Neill parade and decided we learned something and had fun even if we didn't win a prize. We plan to have a candy sale sometime soon.

We are all working hard on our demonstrations. Donlin served a lunch of cup-cakes and games, Larry cakes, cookies and kool-aid. — By Larry Dawes, reporter.

POULTRY POINTERS

Most poultrymen agree, clean land is not a cure-all, but birds usually do better when started on clean ground. A clean range helps keep flocks free from disease and parasites. The range should be in permanent pasture and grazed or cut frequently.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars. You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER. You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflo Drive solves his traffic problems. What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy! For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway. Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

Only BUICK has Dynaflo-DRIVE and with it goes:
HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fender, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.
*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.
