Hospital Steel Coming Monday

Will Then Move Into High Gear

St. Anthony's hospital construction has been slowed in recent week because of a delay in delivery of vital steel.

But James M. Corkle, head of the hospital building committee, stated Wednesday that the bal-ance of the steel delivery will came to town Friday afternoon be made Saturday or Monday- 45 minutes late. probably Monday.

A host of bricklayers will move into high gear as soon as the steel is unloaded. Only two or three bricklayers have been at work during recent weeks because of the holdup.

The Busboom & Rauh Construction company has been trying hard to enclose a portion of the building before the snow flies in order that workmen can carry on through the winter months. It is a race against time, but Olaf Mathieson, construction foreman, is hopeful the race with Ol' Man Winter can be won.

St. Anthony's will be a $420,when it is completed. Building site is immediately north a n d west of St. Mary's academy. Sisters of St. Francis will own and operate the hospital.

Meanwhile, plumbers and electtricians have been making steady progress with basement installasystem already have been instal-
