IT'S PHEASANT SEASON AGAIN IN NEBRASKA

Providing good pheasant shooting for the citizens of Nebraska requires a bigger and more cooperative program than most folks know about. For instance, the game commissions of this and many other states have studied, experimented and worked for years to improve the important factors of cover, feed, winter protection and predatory control. The experience gained in other states has been helpful to Nebraska. And our experience has aided them.

Likewise, Nebraska tavern men learn by observing others; and from the helpful suggestions of the brewing industry's continuing educational program, where by the individual retailer, acting as a community member of the responsibility, works to keep his place of business clean, orderly and law-abiding.
