Frontier:
This community was saddened by the sudden death of our old-time friend and neighbor, Mrs. Ott Kilpatrick.

She had a great foresight as an organizer interested in local and community affairs, and as a rule her conception went a long way in pleasing her friends.

She was possessed with a fine sense of humor. She was a big-hearted woman—one who took great pride and interest in helping those who had found life rough and helped to make the way easier for them to get along.

Mrs. Kilpatrick had a jolly disposition, hearty laugh and she enjoyed company. She delighted in conversation and was always willing to express her views.

Respectfully,
EDWARD S. EARLY

Budget-Builders Knuckling Down

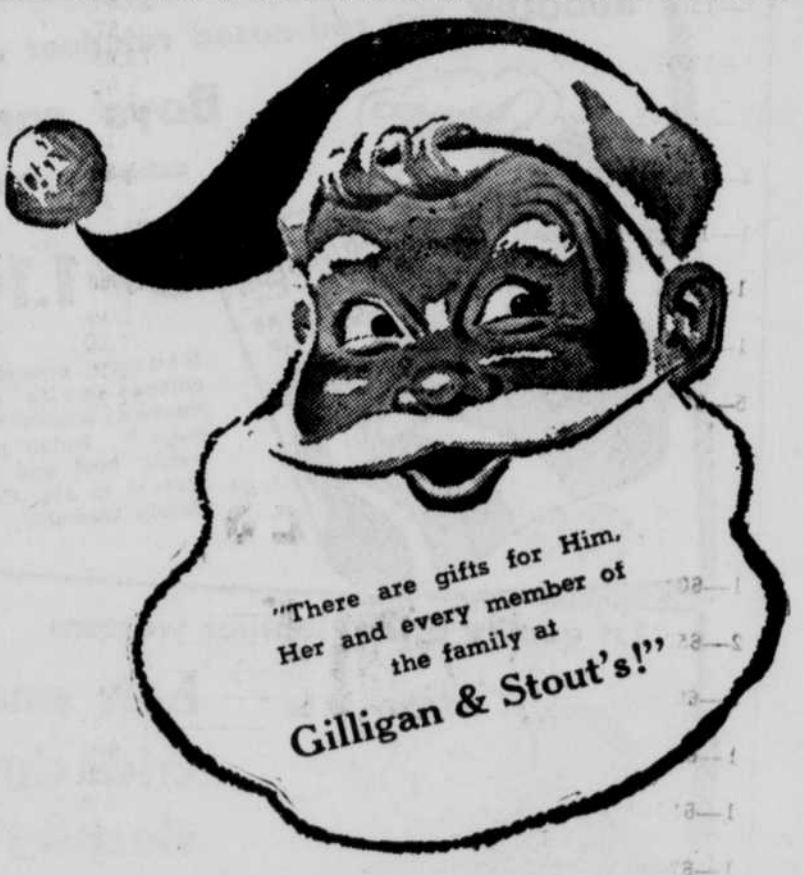

LINCOLN — The men who build the budget for the state of Nebraska got down to brass tacks this week. Scheduled for today (Thursday) is the public hearing on the request of the state assistance department, the first of the state's four biggest-spending agencies to come before Tax Commissioner Philip K. Johnson, Budget Director Loren Laughlin and Gov. Val Peterson with explanations of their submitted budgets.

On December 18, the University of Nebraska will attempt to justify its request which asks for a 75 percent increase in tax funds. The following day, the board of control comes to bat. The board said earlier it hopes to hold its increase down to 10 percent. On December 22, the state normal board request will be aired.

Governor Peterson plunged right into the budget problem on his return from Chicago, Ill., where last week he attended meetings of the council of state governments.

Building budgets for two years at a time is no good, in the opinion of State Sen. John McKnight, of Auburn. He said as much at the 1947 session of the legislature and as a result, the senators voted to place on the '50 general election ballot a legislative reform measure which included annual budget sessions, along with provisions for four-year terms and salaries set by the legislators themselves.

Most of the people who went to the polls didn't vote either way on the issue, largely, McKnight feels, because they were uninformed.
