Lindberg Misses on 'Stop the Music'
Radio's well-known "Stop the Music" nationwide program was focused on O'Neill for a short time Sunday night.
But Bert Parks, master of ceremonies, and the melody, "The Night Is Young," stumped H. L. Lindberg, O'Neill businessman. For failing to identify the tune, he lost a chance to win an elaborate luggage outfit.
Lindberg said his telephone rang "about 10 minutes" before Parks came on the line, and a woman's voice sustained a conversation until Parks was ready to talk with him.
"I knew the tune as well as I did my own name but the excitement and confusion bothered me," Lindberg explained.
Lindberg, who sells luggage at his Firestone Home & Auto store, afterward said, "I don't need the luggage and I'm not going anyplace, anyway!"

Casper Trio Caught Hour After Holdup

ORCHARD—A Casper, Wyo., trio—two men and one woman—were captured at Randolph Saturday about an hour after they had staged a 10 a. m. holdup of the John Friday liquor store in Orchard.
John Kociban, 20, and John Dion, 21, and Dion's wife, Mary, 18, admitted Saturday afternoon they heldup and robbed the Friday store.

The trio were on their way to New Jersey, they said.
Friday, summoned to Randolph, identified the two men and the stolen money was returned to him.
The three Wyoming young people are in the Antelope county jail at Neligh awaiting charges.

We'll do our best on your Christmas call

A full staff will be working through the holidays, doing everything possible to handle the thousands of long distance calls people like to make at Christmas time.
We know from past experience that many of our lines will be loaded to the limit. While most calls will be completed, there will be some that may not get through and many that will be delayed, in spite of our very best efforts.
Here's a tip—if it's possible to make your call during the day on December 24 when the usual Sunday reduced rates are in effect all day, your call will have the best chance of getting through because you will avoid the busiest periods of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.
Here's hoping your call does go through—with very best wishes for a Merry Christmas from
