Kindergarten Youngsters Build Snowman with Aid of Shovel and a Green Hat

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Back up a step or two, gentle readers, while I make a very stately bow to you all. Why? Just feeling stately and dignified that's all. I don't want to set the world on fire—I'll settle for getting the house cleaned up today. How about you?

If this is one of your lazy days, pick up a can of cranberry sauce and a box of graham crackers while doing your shopping. Mix a cup of crushed pine-apple with the cranberry sauce and put a tablespoon of the sauce on a graham cracker, top with another cracker, and more sauce, another cracker, more sauce and oh hips hurray, a nice generous pound putting on a glob of whipped cream.

Serve at once and wait for the compliments. And don't take all the credit. Remember who told you this saucy secret! (P. S. In case the family doesn't like it, I have left for frozen Siberia.)

And that reminds me for no reason at all of creamed chicken. Back when I was a girl, a chicken was a chicken, same as it is now, and ladies loved to serve creamed chicken on baking powder biscuits—same way as they do now. The difference is that the modern woman serves creamed chicken on a square biscuit—because it saves time, labor, motion and left over biscuit dough.

If you don't have your own stubborn way of making creamed chicken you may want to give this method a try. This recipe will serve 4.

CREAMED CHICKEN
Two tablespoons table fat, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1 1/2 teaspoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 1/4 cup flour, 1 1/2 cups chicken broth, 1/2 cup milk or cream, 1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken, salt to taste. Heat the fat and cook celery, onion and green pepper in it until tender. Blend the flour and milk or cream and cook to a smooth sauce, stirring constantly. Add chicken to sauce and season with salt. Heat the mixture thoroughly and serve on rice, toast or biscuits. Serves 4.

Only one letter used today, so I'll have one left for next week. Two useable one are all I have on hand as this department is being prepared.

Writes "Cinderella":

Happy New Year Folks!

Another year has rolled around and we are well into the New Year. We always look forward to the future with hopes, and looking back, it's been a year of regret and thankfulness. The uncertainty of the future makes life interesting, and each individual has to work things out for himself.

This is resolution time, too. How many are made and we resolve to stay with them? Then we drift off and soon find ourselves with the same old habits.

And this is the time to start a diary. They are interesting. This year will finish my five-year book. Sometimes I get disgusted with myself for jotting down each day's happenings. Then I look back through the pages and find some event that was interesting and I keep on. Most of life is like that.

The neighbor's two kindergarten children have built themselves a snowman. The snow wouldn't roll so they used a small shovel, and made it from layers of snow. It resembles a pyramid. When finished a bright green hat was added, and they got a lot of satisfaction from their efforts.

We usually make all our candies or the winter season and I am including a couple of good recipes. One is for divinity and the other is a nut loaf.

DIVINITY
Two cups sugar, two-thirds cup white corn syrup, 1/2 cup water, boiled together until the threads are 3 or 4 inches long. Pour over 2 stiffly beaten egg whites, pouring a little at a time, and beating all the time. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 cup nuts. If desired one can use maraschino cherries, too. When nearly cold pour into mold and cut when cold.

NUT LOAF
Six cups sugar, 1 1/2 pints cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 pint white syrup, 1/2 teaspoon salt, English walnuts, black walnuts or cherries. Mix sugar, cream, salt and syrup and let boil until it makes a firm ball when dropped in cold water, take from stove and add extract. Stir until thick, then beat as long as possible, add nuts—1 from 1 to 4 pounds. Pour in buttered dish. Let stand overnight.

Don't forget to help the kiddies pop a few pans of corn these long cold evenings. We are having rice for supper and if there is any left over will have a pudding later. We are just starting to use our home canned beans and asparagus and they are so good with meat.

Next time you bake bread, make an extra pan of biscuits, let them raise, then put them in the refrigerator. Bring them out the next day and bake and they will be a welcome addition to your dinner.

So long, "CINDERELLA"

SOS For Frontier Woman Letters—

Unless you folks get busy and write me some letters, we can't go on using two letters in each issue of The Frontier. We like to use two each week and for each one of them we award a three-months' subscription to The Frontier. You can write about anything you like. We particularly like to use original letters. If you send the household type of letters, be sure to make them worthwhile. Include at least two reasonable letters and some time and labor-saving ideas or household hints of one type or another.

Send your letters to Mrs. Blanche Pease, The Frontier Woman, Atkinson, Nebraska.

Said the old Indian: "Wear the other man's moccasins for 15 days before you think of telling him what to do."

Says the Bible: "Judge not that ye may not be judged".

Theater Operators Issues Passes—

Mrs. Georgia Rasely, proprietor of the Royal theater O'Neill, at O'Neill; Clair Grimes, of the Golden Gate theater at Chambers; A. C. Miller, of the Miller theater at Atkinson; and Paul Singleton, of the Page theater, have worked out a plan with Sgt. James Lyons, O'Neill recruiting sergeant, whereby free theater passes are issued to each applicant for enlistment in the army or air force.

Ewing Visitors—

Mrs. Clara Schaffer and children and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meyer drove to Ewing Sunday to visit Mrs. Schaffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vandersnick.

Recruiting Station Has Big Month

Sgt. James R. Lyons, of the army and air force recruiting station at O'Neill, reports the following enlistments from the O'Neill recruiting area for the past month:

For air force — John Hans, of Verdell; James E. Storms, of Winer, S. D.; Dale A. Norwood, of Creighton; James O. Bryce, of Verdigris; Lyle K. Dusterhoft, of Bloomfield; Dean E. Lockwood, of Orchard; Leon A. Tangeman, of Bloomfield; Walter C. Rash of Ainsworth; Roland G. Ohlmann, of Valentine; Harley M. Krause, of Long Pine; Merle A. Shelbourn, of Valentine; Ronald R. Bretz, of Ainsworth (for air force band); James J. Jares, of Colome, S. D.; Glen E. Huddle, of Keya Paha, S. D.; Arthur L. Scheich, of Creighton; Errol E. Held, of Page; Grant A. Flint, of O'Neill; David L. Murphy, of Bloomfield; Herbert H. Benck, of Bloomfield; Frank R. Fairchild, of Valentine; Lawrence E. Sloan, of Springfield; DeLayne D. Asmussen, of Neligh; Donald W. Marshall, of Neligh.

These men went to Lackland air force base, San Antonio, Tex., for further processing, reassignment and training.

For regular army — Alvin W. Volquardson, of Bloomfield; William H. Sylvester, of Mills; Gerald D. Potts, of Chambers; Wayne W. Swett, of Ainsworth; Edwin R. Buxton, of Bassett; Wayne W. Sawyer, of Ewing; William A. Spotted Tail, of Parmalee, S. D.; Maurice C. Parks, of O'Neill; Clem O. Lien, of Valentine; Joseph A. Bejot, of Ainsworth; Alvin A. Blair, of Chambers; Edward J. Scholz, of Mills; Eugene H. Kurpgewit, of Ewing.

For air borne — Franklin W. Dillon, of Ainsworth; Maynard D. Dillon, of Ainsworth.

The regular army men went to Ft. Riley, Kans., for further processing and training.

Some young men have been going to recruiting offices outside this recruiting area to make application for enlistment, causing themselves unnecessary expenses on several trips to get application papers in order, Sergeant Lyons said.

The same information is available at the O'Neill office as at any other office.

Office in O'Neill is open evenings or phone 169J, Lyons explained.
