

Miss Leona Winkler
an Emmet Bride

EMMET—A very large crowd attended the wedding of Miss Leona Winkler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Winkler, to Robert Hanus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Hanus, of David City, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the Church of the Epiphany.

Rev. Anthony J. Urbanski performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar decorated with potted flowers and pink and white carnations. The wedding party entered the sanctuary to the organ strains of the "King's March," played by Mrs. John Tenborg, who also sang "Panis Angelicus," by Cesar Frank, and played the "March Pontifical," as a recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white slipper satin fashioned with an off-the-shoulder yoke of nylon net with a ruffled chantilly lace bertha. The bodice was fitted and buttoned to below the waist in back with tiny satin covered buttons. The sleeves were fitted and came to a long point over the hands. The skirt was very full with a half overskirt of satin edged with a 6-inch chantilly lace ruffle which draped from the center front to the floor on either side. The back ended in a 3-yard train.

Her veil was of fingertip length French illusion edged with chantilly lace and was held in place by a net tiara with seed pearl clips. She wore a single strand pearl necklace and matching pearl and rhinestone earrings which were a gift of the bridegroom. Her cascade bouquet of white roses was tied with a white satin bow and streamers.

Mrs. Leo Weichman, of Stuart, sister of the bride, was matron-of-honor. She wore a formal gown of aqua lace over taffeta and carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses with pink satin streamers. Her headress was a nylon net bonnet with pink baby roses and forget-me-nots. She wore a strand of pearls.

The bridegroom and his bestman, Louis Hanus, of Howells, brother of the bridegroom, both wore gray business suits with white carnation boutonnières. Both the bride's and bridegroom's mother were gowned in forest green crepe gowns with brown accessories and wore corsages of yellow roses.

During the ceremony moving pictures and flash photos were taken by John Tenborg and Pvt. Harold Winkler.

The wedding dinner was served in the church parlors for the immediate relatives and friends. During the afternoon the reception was held in the church parlors from 1 until 4.

In charge of the serving were Mrs. Joe Babl, Mrs. John Babl, Mrs. Bernard Pongratz and Mrs. Joe Pongratz. The room and tables were decorated with aqua and white crepe paper streamers with a large white bell above the bride's table, which was centered by a large 3-tier wedding cake, baked and decorated by the bride's sister, Mrs. Weichman. Pink and rose buds with silver bangles were on the cake which was topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. On either side of the cake were bouquets of pink and white roses and blue candles. Bouquets of pink and white carnations were on the other tables.

Special guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Janzing, who are the godparents of the bride.
