IT'S AN OLD AMERICAN CUSTOM...

WASHINGTON, TOO, ENJOYED THE THRILL OF THOROUGHBREDS
 George Washington was not only a racing fan, but he owned racing horses as well. So did Thomas Jefferson. The two even met in match races and it is said to be the only recorded instance of two men who became Presidents of the nation meeting as rivals on the race course.
 Like Washington and Jefferson, many Nebraska folks enjoy horse racing and gather together in the friendly atmosphere of the good Nebraska sunshine for an afternoon of exciting sport.
 Racing in Nebraska benefits county and state fairs, live stock shows, poultry shows, 4-H activities, scholarships and fellowships in agriculture, and countless other beneficial projects.
 In Nebraska no individual can share in the proceeds, yet everyone shares in the benefits racing provides.
