(Continued from page 2.) Some strange, fantastic, fabulous, and fanciful reasoning, the invention of a smart lawyer would almost convince us that a murderer is a benefactor of society and ought to be pensioned instead of stowed away for life.

Archeologists continue to uncover evidence in the ruins of past civilizations that the ancients, far from being "cave men," were the supermen. One scientist says the goldsmiths of 5000 years ago were "supreme artists." Look at us today with the means of universal destruction at our finger tips. Maybe we qualify for the cave man type.

It might help if organized labor would switch from demands for increased pay to demands for reduced living costs.

The venerable Lincoln Journal, having been made a victim of a false news story that appeared in its columns, has been made the victim also of a jury verdict in a libel suit. Edward Rosewater was sometimes in court to answer in a libel suit against the Omaha Bee, but such things are something of a rarity in Nebraska in this day of grace.

They of the Western Newspaper Union that had functioned for a generation on North 14th street, have folded their tents like the Arabs and silently stole away. One other, Harry Swallow, and myself are all that are left of the force in the ad alley 30 years ago to mourn the folding up of the WNU in downtown Lincoln. They are now on the outskirts.

Run Light but Market Strong

It was a small sale Thursday, May 31, at the O'Neill Livestock Market, principally due to wet weather and muddy roads throughout the area, but the market was strong.

The 190- to 270-pound butchers sold from $21.50 to an extreme top of $21.75; the 270- to 300-pounders were quoted from $21.00 to $21.50; the 300- to 370-pounders from $19.25 to $20.00.

Top price paid for sows was $19.75 with the bulk of them selling for $19.50. The feeder pig market was a little better than the week before.

The cattle run was very light, but was good and strong on all kinds. Light steer calves, weighing 300- to 350-pounds, hit a top of $41.30. Yearling steers, 450 to 550 pounds, were quoted from 35c to 38c. A few fat cows sold as high as 28c; good cutter cows were bid at 24c and canners, 17c to 19c.
