resenting items of interest about people we knew. One small matter of regret was the lack of opportunity to show off our three year old granddaughter. This would have also set out into what depths of fatuous adoration a besotted grandmother can descend. Another was that we could not personally pilot our friends through the finest orange grove in Florida. This is a personal opinion and might be questioned. However, I marked its location on Art's road map and told them to go in and help themselves. Perhaps I cannot conclude this letter than with a story which may voice your own sentiments. Years ago I went into the office of superintendent of the Galena division of the Northwestern, and just ahead of me was a burly trainman. I got in just in time to hear the superintendent say this: "Yes, I know you, you are the man who wrote me four pages and did not say anything."

KERSENBROCK IS FOND NOT GUILTY

(Pierce County Leader.)
(Last Week.)

The case of the State of Nebraska versus John Kersensbrock of O'Neill was tried in the District Court of Pierce county at Pierce this week, and the outcome of the same was that the defendant was found not guilty. The charge against Kersensbrock was stealing twelve head of hogs from the farm occupied by William Hauswirth and owned by the Security State Bank of Osmond, and which is located one mile east and one and a half miles south of Plainview.

It seems that on October 24, 1927, Kersensbrock came to the Hauswirth farm and took twelve head of hogs and had trucked them to his home at O'Neill, by John Abbott, a truck man of that place. The evidence showed that Kersensbrock had gone to the farm and had a conversation with Hauswirth, and after that the Hauswirth family went to a show in town, and then Kersensbrock and his man drove up and loaded the hogs in the truck and took them to O'Neill, where they were sold for $148.

While Kersensbrock was in business at Osmond conducting a meat market and grocery store, he let the Hauswirth family have about three or four hundred dollars worth of meats and groceries for which he never received any pay. Lately it seems that Hauswirth told Kersensbrock to come to the farm and get the twelve head of hogs as part payment for the bill that was coming to Kersensbrock. This was done on the night of October 24, 1927. It later developed that the hogs were mortgaged to the Security State Bank of Osmond, which is owned by the Cizeks, and after they heard of the deal, they immediately proceeded to get busy, the result was that Kersensbrock was arrested and charged with stealing the hogs. The defendant had his preliminary hearing in the County Court and he was bound over to the District Court, Ervin Kratochvil, who is a brother-in-law of Kersensbrock going his bond. The case came up for trial last Monday. All forenoon was consumed in getting a jury. Kersensbrock had for his attorneys Mike Harrington and his son George of O'Neill, and Douglas Cones of Pierce.

The State was represented by County Attorney E. D. Beech. It was a bitterly fought case, and the court room was filled with spectators. There must have been thirty witnesses in the case, and they came from Osmond and O'Neill, principally. The taking of evidence concluded about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and the lawyers entered upon their pleas to the jury. County Attorney Beech made the opening argument to the jury, and it was a good and able one, too. He was followed by Attorney Cones, who made a very logical and sensible talk for his client. Mike Harrington then addressed the jury, and he went after his opponents with hammar and tongs, and we don't suppose there has ever been a more bitter speech delivered in the court room at Pierce than that delivered by Harrington against Hauswirth and his supporters. In fact, he got so severe that he had to be called down and cautioned by Judge Chase.

The jury started to deliberate upon their verdict about 5 p. m., and at about 8 brought in their verdict of "Not Guilty." The verdict seemed to meet with the approval of those in the court room. Mr. and Mrs. Kersensbrock shook hands and thanked each of the jurymen for what they had done for them, and then they departed with their friends for O'Neill, Nebraska.

Thus ends a case that has been a rather expensive one for Pierce county.

At this time we want to congratulate Attorney Beech for the way he handled the case. He worked hard all the way along, and was pitted against some of the brightest legal lights in the country. He put up a wonderful fight, and we suppose one reason he did not have any assistance was because he wanted to keep down the expenses for Pierce county as much as possible. He lost his case, but he showed that he is a scrapper and is looking after the interests of Pierce county at all times.

Less gear shifting and Longer-Lived Motors

RED CROWN ETHYL GASOLINE puts more power at your command for hill climbing, creeping along in slow traffic, pulling through mud or loose sand, for shooting ahead fast when you want to pass a car or have to speed up to avoid a reckless driver darting out of a cross street.

When you use Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline, you rarely have to shift gears, because you can slow down and then pick up speed a lot more easily.

Less gear shifting saves wear on your transmission and wear and strain on the bearings and moving parts of your motor.

It means smaller repair bills and a motor that lasts longer.

This improved motor fuel is always reliable, quick starting Red Crown Gasoline with Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound added—a matchless combination that makes every motor do better work at lower fuel cost. Try it and see!

Sold by reliable dealers and Red Crown Service Stations everywhere in Nebraska.
