MAT TINLEY From the Iowa Legionaire.

Past State Commander Mat. A. Finley, of Council Bluffs, was nominated for the Iowa Living Hall of Fame by Harlan Miller in last Sunday's Des Moines Register. To know Mat Tinley is to love him, and he is loved because of the service he renders his fellow men. A man can well be measured by what be does for others.

he does for others.

Reasons Miller gave for Tinley's nomination follow: He is a distinguished soldier and surgeon: he commands the military reserves of four states—Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota; in the event of war he would lead 30,-900 troops; he is a veteran of the Spanish and World wars; he won the Distinguished Service medal; he was one of the commanders of the intrepid One Hundred Sixty-eighth; as a surgeon for 26 years he has won admiration as a thorough numanitarion day and night; he ministers equal diligence to rich and poor; he has served as chief physician for three railroads; he has served as chief examiner for several insurance companies. The American Legion has chosen him as its department commander for a term; his former trenchmates of the Rainbow division elected him their president; he won the French Croix De Guerre and is a member of the Legion of Honor; he rose from sec-ond lieutenant to major general in 20 years; he twice left his practice serve the republic on the battlefield; he is a valiant soldier in peace as well as in war, and an inspirational figure for young Iowans. Tinley is 52 years old.

> Ford Plants Lag. From Barron's Weekly.

Detroit authorities state that the inability of the Ford Motor company to swing into quantity production on a scale commensurate with its productive facilities still constitutes the strongest argument for the continuance of flourishing sales by the present leading pro-ducers. Sales of the new Ford model to date are 150,000 cars.

April was the first month in which the Ford organization tuned up, output running about 30,000 cars. May, which was expected to show a big jump, totaled about 50,-900 cars—this at the end of the fifth month of the year. As Ford did about 100,000 units to the opening of May the total for the year to date is therefore, about 150,000

Meantime, of course, General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson, Willys-Overland and others have been enjoying record-breaking sales. There is no question that a big portion of the sales of their low-priced models have been to potential Ford buyers who would not wait. Regardless of when Ford will stage a come-back the manner in which its total percentage of business in the industry has been declining is now being emphasized anew. In the first quarter Ford did only 70,000 cars or about 7 per cent. of the 968,000 car total for all domestic makers. Last year he did only 475,000 or about 13 per cent. In 1926 his 1,447,000 figure represented about 32 per cent. and in 1925 the 1,798,000 output was 43 per cent. Back in 1924 Ford was doing 51 per cent with 1,790,000 cars and trucks.

Furthermore, it is frankly admitted by Ford executives and confirmed by outside cost accountants that every Ford that leaves the factory represents a present loss of over twice its selling price. Competent observers are estimating the 1928 Ford deficit from operations at between $75,000,000 to $100,000,000. It is not to be supposed that the delay in getting under way and the prospective loss of this year mean that Ford is out of the automobile picture permanently. The Fords

For Law of Averages

Forest Lake, Minn.-There's a hen on the chicken farm of E. J. Oppliger which apparently believes in the law of averages. One day Appliger found two eggs in a nest-one egg measured less than two inches around and weighed less than half an ounce, while the other measured eight inches and weighed tive punces. He believes the same hen laid both, the giant sort of compensating for the dwarf.

Unfit Spokesman.

From Chicago Tribune. A resolution to investigate some of the international activities of the federal reserve board is to be pressed at the next session of congress. The resolution was intro-duced in the closing days of the last session by Representative Beedy of Maine. It was not acted upon because of lack of time.

Meanwhile the governor of the federal reserve bank of New York, Benjamin Strong, ought to be removed. The evidence regarding his activities is already at hand. He is at present in Europe, where he is reported to be conferring again with his friends, the heads of the banks of England, Germany and France. This time they are concerned with the stabilization of the French currency and the cur-rencies of some of France's Balkan satellites It was after a previous confer-ence with these gentlemen that the Chicago reserve bank was forced, against the judgment of the bankers in this district, to lower its rediscount rate. This step was taken not in the interest of this district, but in the hope of improv-

Policemen Should Pound

Pavement, Official Says Syracuse, N. Y .-- Alderman William A. Panworth believes police protection can be augmented without increasing the force. "The trouble with the police," he says, "is that there are too many men sitting around headquarters at deaks in soft jobs and entirely too few on the street. If the so-called desk men were put on the streets, where they belong. I am sure that it would be a big step toward remedying the police situation generally."

MEMORY.

By Colton.

Memory is the friend of wit, but the treacherous ally of invention; there are many books that owe their success to two things, the good memory of those who write them, and the bad memory of those who read ing the position of continental and British currencies. Chicago bankers at the time pointed to the danger of excessive speculation in this country which would follow cheapening of the money rate, but their opinions were given no considera-We are not prepared to say that the current wave of speculation can be explained solely by the lowering of the discount rate, but we are convinced that the lowering of the rate did give great impetus to the bull market and to that exdirect money into a gamblers' market.

Mr. Strong's policy was repudiated too late when the governor of the federal reserve system, who had fallen in with his plans, re-tired from office. As governor of the New York reserve bank he assumes to deal on behalf of the American people with the principal financiers of Europe. The record of his previous negotiations is far from reassuring. His policies have flowered in a wave of insane speculation. European currencies have been so far stabilized that the pound sterling is at a premium in this country. We have had all the stabilization of that sort that we can afford.

German Finds Iodine In Milk of Wyk Cows

Emden, Germany -A valuable medicinal remedy in the form of iodinized milk has been discovered by Dr. Gmelin, a physician in Wyk on Foehr Island in the North

Dr. Gmelin established the existence of from one fourteenth to one twenty third of a grain of iodine in the milk of cows and sheep grazing on the islands of the German west coast. Its presence is attributed to the powerful influence of the North Sea, noted for its emanations of large quantities of salt, radium and iodine, especially during low tide.

of Civil War "Vets"

Few Civil war veterans know that one of their numbe, is a Chinese. He is Edward Day Cohota, who is still alert at eighty-five. More than eighty years ago, as a small boy of four in tatters on a Shaughai wharf, he took the fancy of a Yankee sallor, with the result that the boy salled away and never again saw his native land. He finally landed in Gloucester, Mass., the home of Capt, Edward Day, the ship's master. The captain took him to his home and gave him his name, using in addition, Cohota. He grew up in the Day home and enlisted in the Civil war and when the war ended had the great happiness of helping his benefactor in his old age. He reenlisted in the regular army and saw service on the western frontier. He was retired before the war of '98, much to his disgust. While serving it. South Dakota he married a Norwegian. He is now a widower with five living children.-Boston Globe.

Corpse Had Winning Ticket

Just as the undertaker's assistants were preparing to close a coffn in which lay the body of a man at Barcelona, Spain, his widow observed sticking out of his pocket a fractional lottery ticket. To her surprise on examining it she found that it had drawn the third prize in a big lottery, entitling the holder to a very large sum. The man had not worn the suit for some time previous but, according to the custom of the country, was dressed in his best clothes for burial.

Build to Defy Quakes

A form of construction which will offer great resistance to earthquakes and will add to the safety of the dwellers is the aim of builders in Costa Rica. Residences are now being constructed of high-grade wooden frames and in many instances brick walls are reinforced with concrete pillars at close intervals. This makes a solid frame of reinforced concrete. In a quake, the frame, it is believed, will remain standing and serve as a protection to the building.
