WILL DRILL FOR OIL IN GHOST LIGHT DISTRICT

A meeting was held at Sunset Lodge last Tuesday by a number of local men who are interested in the proposition of drilling a test well in the much talked about Ghost Light district northwest of O'Neill.

Harry T. Osborne, who has been connected with the drilling of oil for many years, has consented to do the drilling without cost if no oil is forthcoming in the test well.

Mr. Osborne is not a geologist and does not claim to know there is oil in the proposed district, but he says that he does know how to handle a rig and if the businessmen really want to know what is in the ground out there he is willing to put his time into the test well on a chance undertaking.

Enough money has been raised among local enthusiasts to procure the drilling equipment which is now being negotiated for. More money will be required to build the tower and furnish the fuel for the drilling.

Mr. Osborn expects to leave in a few days for Tulsa and Ponca City, Oklahoma, to complete the arrangements for the rig which will be in O'Neill in about two weeks. Work will be started as soon as the rig arrives and the tower is constructed. Mr. Osborn says that about sixty days will be required to complete a well provided they experience no bad luck.

There is no one who is receiving money for their services; the only money being expended is for expenses of the operation of the rigs.

People of this section have been wondering for a long time if there is oil deposits underneath those mysterious lights that have been dancing over the hills northwest of O'Neill for many years and this test well will to a certain extent satisfy their curiosity.

JUBILEE BELLS.

Last Wednesday morning St. Mary's Academy was the scene of a unique celebration in honor of the Silver Jubilee of two of the sisters, Sr. Mary Eleonore and Sr. Mary Herlindis. The latter is well known to the pupils who have attended St. Mary's as she has spent twenty-one years in O'Neill.

High Mass at eight o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Father Leahy in the absence of Right Rev. Monsignor Cassidy. Father Leahy gave an appropriate address and congratulated the Jubilarians on having chosen the religious life and spent a quarter of a century in the service of God and charity to mankind.

The academy chapel was very beautifully decorated with ferns and fresh flowers as it was there the celebration was begun. At eight o'clock the assembled friends of the sisters were greeted by the strains of "Veni Sponsa Christi" sweetly rendered by the choir of St. Patrick's church, which also sang the High Mass. Twenty-five little "Flower Girls" marched through the chapel to the cloister entrance and conducted the Jubilarians to front seats for the services.

After Mass the honored ones received the congratulations of their friends and acquaintances in the academy parlors. They were the recipients of gifts and good wishes from near and far, and the day's celebration is one that will long be remembered, not only by Sr. M. Eleonore, Sr. M. Herlindis, but by the entire community of St. Mary's academy and kind friends.

HUGH O'DONNELL RUNNER-UP IN NORFOLK TOURNAMENT

Hugh O'Donnell, O'Neill's eighteen year old golf expert and Hugh J. Boyle, a former O'Neill citizen contested for the Championship title at the Norfolk golf tournament which closed Wednesday afternoon when Boyle defeated O'Donnell at the thirty-seventh hole.

Hugh O'Donnell fought his way to the finals with some of the best golfists in the state and put them away with ease.

The match attracted the attention of golf fans over northeast Nebraska as both the contestants are well known in golf circles.

O'NEILL HAS CHANCE FOR VETERAN BUREAU HOSPITAL

The president has approved the recommendation for a two hundred bed Veteran Bureau hospital to be located in Nebraska. Dr. W. F. Finley, president of the Commercial club has had considerable correspondence in regard to the hospital. O'Neill has a bid on file for the building. A number of cities and towns over the state are fighting for the location.

O'Neill has a chance to secure this hospital if the people of the county and surrounding territory will write their senators and congressman.

SPENCER DAM IS SOLD TO CHICAGO CAPITALIST

(Neligh News)
The Forbes company who furnished the capital to finish the Spencer dam and hydro electric power plant on the Niobrara river when the persons interested were about to give up, has sold the property to Clark Lewis, a Chicago capitalist. The Interstate Co. is now using all the electric current that the plant can supply.

POULTRY AND DAIRY DEMONSTRATION DAY

Last Saturday afternoon a number of farmers and those interested in the development of the poultry and dairy industry of this part of Holt county gathered on the court house lawn to listen to interesting talks from Mr. Liebers of the Dairy Development Society of the Agricultural college; Frank Mussehl, head of the Poultry Husbandry Department, and Merle Brouse, of the state farm at Valentine, on soil culture. These gentlemen are well versed on their subjects and have gained much of their knowledge by actual experience and practical work.

Dr. Finley, president of the Commercial club was in charge of the meeting and made a very interesting talk along development lines. Robert McGinnis and J. F. O'Donnell also made excellent talks.

The dairy and poultry industry is receiving more attention from Holt county people each year but there is considerable room for advancement. Many of our farmers and towns people harbor the thought that these men who travel over the state talking dairy and poultry to farmers know only what they read in books and that they know nothing of the practical side of the dairy and poultry business. These men, it is true, gather considerable knowledge from books on these subjects, but those who write the books used by these men wrote them after a long and careful study of their subject from actual experience and the help of practical men. Mr. Liebers, Mr. Mussehl and Mr. Brouse are practical men and know their subjects from a practical standpoint.

Deversified farming is coming; the farmer who does not realize a profit from poultry and dairying is not getting all that is in store for him.

The McClellan Shows—the carnival company that occupied the streets of O'Neill during the Running Race Meet early in July, and a couple of evangelists contested the rights for a lot in Omaha the first of the week. The evangelists were occupying a plot of ground upon which the McClellan Shows had a contract and when they arrived they proceeded to set up their shows. An agreement, however, was soon reached whereby both organizations are using the lots.

O'NEILL WINS ANOTHER GAME FROM CREIGHTON SUNDAY

O'Neill played their third game with Creighton last Sunday at Creighton winning the game by a score of 5 to 1. The first game between these two teams was played at Oakview with O'Neill winning 5 to 3; the second game was played here on July 5th with Creighton winning 2 to 1, and the third game last Sunday.

The game Sunday was a better game than the score would indicate, as the game went to the 8th inning with one to nothing in favor of O'Neill but in that inning each side scored once and was the only score Creighton got during the game. In the ninth inning Quincy weakened and Joe Martin who is leading the hitters for the local club came up and singled, then Tom Troshynski hit a grounder to the second baseman and in trying to make a double both men were safe. Schollmeyer was up next and hit a double scoring Joe Martin and Tom Troshynski. Bazelman next up got to first on an error, then Hank Martin knocked out a fly to left field and Schollmeyer scored, making three for the inning and a total of five. In the last of the ninth Creighton was unable to score only getting one single.

Honeycutt, O'Neill's twirling ace was in fine condition and held the Creighton men in the palm of his hand only in reality three hits, but the umpire's decision on the foul of Holiday's made it a fourth. Quincy who used to be a real pitcher a couple years ago has surely slipped a lot.

Creighton will come here next Sunday and we expect that they will come plugged to the eyebrows, as they wish to even up the defeat of last Sunday.

THE BALLARD FAMILY WRITE FROM OREGON

The Frontier received a letter a few days ago from Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Ballard and son, Max, who have been touring the west for the past few weeks and we reproduce it in part:

"Netart Beach, Netart, Oregon, July 17, 1928.

"Just a few lines to let you know that we are alive and enjoying life. We have been out on the Pacific beaches since July 8th. We go to the mountains on Thursday and expect to camp among the big trees in Government Springs, Washington. We will circle Mt. Hood on our way back to Portland. Had a fine trip here; no trouble except a few flat tires. We expect to return next week and possibly stop in O'Neill.

Give our regards to all the folks you know would be interested in hearing about us.

Attended church with Rev. Bruce and he wants me to preach next Sunday. Probably will not as we will be among the big trees."
